Watery Worlds

One eyed, ten legged, piercing mouth parts and a creature that breathes through it's bottom?....these are just a few of the weird and incredible creatures that participants will get to meet as they delve into the often unseen world of macro-invertebrates and discover how they play an important role in the health of our waterways.

The presenter

Edward Tsyrlin is a freshwater ecologist and author of "The Waterbug book". His strong interest in macro-photography provided the original motivation for the Waterbug book. Edward has ten years experience identifying water bugs, photographing them and teaching people about them.
