CCMA

EVCType: mosaic

RegDescription: Coastal Dune Scrub occurs in a mosaic with Coastal Tussock Grassland. These two EVCs also have floristic affinities. Coastal Dune Scrub/Coastal Tussock Grassland Mosaic occurs on exposed foredunes or on more protected secondary dunes extending from west of Port Campbell to the Bellarine Peninsula. Wind-blown calcareous sands form the dune system behind the rocky headland. There are two forms of this mosaic:-

The first is predominantly treeless, with the occasional Swamp Gum or Messmate. The shrub layer may be dense or patchy and is characterized by Coast Beard-heath with Coast Daisy-bush, Seaberry Saltbush, the rare Coast Ballart, the rare Velvet Correa and the scrambling Bower Spinach. The dominant lifeforms are tussock forming graminoids and forbs. Blue Tussock-grass and Knobby Club-sedge dominate this layer, with Coast Sword-sedge and Black-anther Flax-lily often interspersed. On the fore dune the tussock-dominated grassland is often dominated by the introduced Marram Grass which replaces the native sand-binding grass Hairy Spinifex. Forbs are common and include Yellow Wood-sorrel, Bidgee-widgee, Coast Groundsel and Ivy-leaf Violet.

The second less diverse form grows on exposed fore dunes of the Bellarine Peninsula at Breamlea Spit. Coast Tea-tree is the dominant shrub with Coast Beard-heath, Coast Wattle, Cushion Bush and Seaberry Saltbush comprising the remaining shrub layer. The dominance of Coast Tea-tree is one of the main differences between the two forms. Forbs and grasses comprise a large percentage of the ground layer and include Coast Sow-thistle, Hairy Spinifex, Sea Celery, Bidgee-widgee, and Knobby Club-sedge.

Both floristic alliances are easily disturbed due to the proximity to beaches and subsequently a large proportion of species present are weeds (e.g. Marram Grass, Branched Centaury, Pimpernel, Cat's Ear, Angled Pigface, Beach Rocket)

10 Estuarine Wetland

EVCGroupNo: 19 GroupName: Wetlands
 EVCSUBGroupNo: 19.2 SubGroupName: Brackish / estuarine
 EVCType: EVC

CCMA

RegDescription: Estuarine Wetland is limited in occurrence within the region being confined to lower reaches of streams near the coast (OP/WP). This EVC receives saline water from tidal movements and fresh water flows from inland. The inundating waters are usually salty, sometimes brackish and occasionally fresh over the period of a year depending upon river flooding regimes. Soils are anaerobic peat-rich muds. Estuarine Wetland is dominated by the Common Reed with margin plants that exhibit a wide salinity tolerance such as Creeping Monkey-flower, *Water Buttons, Streaked Arrow grass, Club Sedge and Shiny Swamp-mat.

Notes: An example of Estuarine Wetland can be found adjacent to Lake Craven and Lake Hordern around the lower reaches of the Aire River.

104 Lignum Wetland

EVCGroupNo: 19 GroupName: Wetlands

EVSubGroupNo: 19.1 SubGroupName: Freshwater

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Lignum Wetland is common across the arid areas of north-western Victoria. Within the Corangamite region it is restricted to tiny areas scattered across the plains from Bacchus Marsh to Melton to south of Geelong on the Volcanic Plain. Rainfall in this area is very low. Lignum Wetland generally occurs within areas of Plains Grassland, on swamp and lagoonal deposits and quaternary stream alluvium deposited in minor depressions on the basalt volcanic plains. Soils are very heavy grey clays, waterlogged for much of the year but also experience periods of extreme dryness. Species diversity is very low as few plants can thrive in these conditions.

Lignum Wetland is a shrubland dominated Tangled Lignum. Ground species include Common Spike-sedge, Sharp Club-sedge, Brown-back Wallaby-grass, Yellow Rush, Large-fruit Tassel and Common Nardoo.

Wetlands are complex by nature, with distinct zonation patterning dependent on water depth and period of inundation. Most have been severely disturbed by drainage and dam building works in addition to heavy grazing and weed invasion. As a result they are difficult to classify. It is likely that Lignum Wetland is a complex of a number of different entities. Some are freshwater, some are slightly brackish and some, with less extreme soil conditions and hence more species, have close affinities with Plains Grassy Wetland.

125 Plains Grassy Wetland

EVCGroupNo: 19 GroupName: Wetlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 19.1 SubGroupName: Freshwater

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Plains Grassy Wetland occurs in very shallow depressions on the Volcanic Plain (VP). Some of the areas are meanders of prior streams, others are discrete depressions. The unifying feature is the heavy clay soil which holds moisture as distinct from the more free-draining soils of the adjacent terrestrial vegetation. Inundation is periodic over the winter months alternating with dry periods during the summer months. Few examples remain and much of the diversity has been lost. Species richness and dominance will also naturally vary between sites. This EVC is a (usually) treeless shallow seasonal wetland. River Red Gum may occur on the perimeter or, less frequently, scattered throughout. Structure is generally a grassland, grading into sedgeland or herbland. Species present include a range of herbs and grasses which tolerate the seasonally inundated conditions. Aquatic species may be recorded during periods of inundation. Grasses present include Veined Swamp Wallaby-grass, Australian sweet Grass and Brown-back Wallaby-grass. These may be flanked by tall Tussock-grass. Herbs include Drumsticks, Swamp Daisy, Hairy Willow-herb, Rough Raspwort, Common Sneezeweed, Small Loosestrife, Buttercups, Poison Lobelia, Sprawling Bluebell, and Prickfoot. Aquatic species typical of inundated sites include Running Marsh-flower, Australian Lilaepsis, Floating pond-weed, Common Nardoo, Water Plantain, Pacific Azolla, Common Spike-sedge, Swamp Lily, Upright Milfoil, Tiny Milfoil and Amphibious Milfoil. Rushes and sedges include: Hollow Rush, Toad Rush, Yellow Rush, Joint-leaf Rush. Rush Sedge may dominate wetter areas. Common weeds include Spear Thistle, Fog Grass, Onion Grass, Hairy Hawkbit, and Cats Ear. The most serious weed is Phalaris.

Significant species include Stiff Groundsel (endangered in Victoria and Australia), Barren Cane Grass (vulnerable in Australia), Water Starwort (vulnerable in Victoria and Australia).

Notes: Tiny remnants occur in the VP at Salt Creek (Lismore), Dreeite, Camperdown, Alvie, Pirron Yallock, South Purrumbete, Swan Marsh, Eurack, Wallace, Millbrook, Bradshaw, Ingliston, Mt Wallace, Bungal, Balliang, Mitchell Park, Wendouree (note incorrectly mapped - has been planted), Haddon, Navigators, Mortchup, Mannibadar, Shelford and apparently Durdiwarrah (in the CVU).

128 Grassy Forest

EVCGroupNo: 6 GroupName: Dry Forests
 EVCSUBGroupNo: 6.2 SubGroupName: Sheltered and/or higher altitude
 EVCType: EVC

CCMA

RegDescription: Grassy Forest occurs on relatively infertile soils derived from Ordovician sediments (Silcrete) with moderate rainfall in the CVU. The overstorey is a low open forest (20m tall) of Messmate Stringybark, Narrow-leaf Peppermint, Candlebark and Manna Gum growing in association with an understorey tree layer of Blackwood, Black Wattle, Silver Wattle and Cherry Ballart Exocarpos cupressiformis. The shrub layer is usually absent. The ground-layer is dominated by grasses, particularly Grey Tussock-grass, Silver-top Wallaby-grass, Weeping Grass intergrading with areas of Bracken. Other common species include Small Poranthera, Button Everlasting, Honey-pots, Spiny-headed Mat-rush, Wattle Mat-rush, Common Raspwort, and Black-anther Flax-lily. Often the groundlayer is quite open with many bare areas, leaf litter, lichens (including the distinctive Coral lichen) and mosses. Fringed Brachyloma appears to be associated with areas of skeletal soil (lots of exposed Silcrete). Typical weeds are Sweet Vernal-grass, Radiata Pine and Cats Ear.

Notes: Grassy Forest occurs in the CVU predominantly on the 'Narmbool' property between Scotsburn and Grenville, where it is set aside for conservation purposes. It is also recorded near Lal Lal.

132 Plains Grassland

EVCGroupNo: 13 GroupName: Grasslands

EVSubGroupNo: 13.1 SubGroupName: Grasslands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Plains Grassland occurred across large sections of the western volcanic plains as a mosaic with Plains Grassy Woodland. A vast majority has been cleared for agriculture and settlement and it now only occurs as small, isolated and disturbed remnants, mainly on road and rail reserves in the VP Bioregion. Soils are heavy grey cracking clays which are often waterlogged in winter. The combination of these soils with low rainfall severely restricts tree-root growth resulting in virtually treeless plains.

The ground flora is generally visually dominated by grasses but species diversity and composition can vary greatly, largely depending on past management practices in the area; particularly past fire and grazing regimes. The most common species include Kangaroo Grass, Lemon Beauty-heads, Pink Bindweed, Scaly Buttons, Blue Devil, Prickly Woodruff, Common Everlasting, Wallaby Grasses, Long-hair Plume-grass and Cut-leaf Goodenia.

Typical weeds are pasture grass weeds such as Briza spp, Fog Grass, Rye grasses, Squirrel-tail Fescue, Onion Grass, Plantains, various thistles, flat weeds and clovers.

Notes:

SimilarEVCs: Plains Grassy Woodland may resemble Plains Grassland where the tree layer is sparse

Associated EVCs: Plains Grassy Woodland

Rainfall (Ave or Range): 500-550mm (to 650mm ne Altitude: <200m (to 400m near Soils: heavy grey cracking clays

136 Sedge Wetland

EVCGroupNo: 19 GroupName: Wetlands

EVSubGroupNo: 19.1 SubGroupName: Freshwater

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Sedge Wetland occurs in minor depressions on otherwise flat areas of Tertiary sands and clays. This EVC rarely has a eucalypt overstorey. Swamp Gum is often found scattered around the fringes of the wetland, along with shrubs such as Blackwood and Prickly Tea-tree. The ground layer is dominated by dense swards of Pithy Sword-sedge in addition to Spiny-headed Mat-rush, Soft Twig-rush, Scale Rushes and Common Bog-sedge. Herbs present include Running Marsh-flower and Centella.

Sedge Wetland occurs in the CVU in the vicinity of the Upper Stony Creek Reservoirs and in the Brisbane Ranges National Park.

140 Mangrove Shrubland

EVCGroupNo: 20 GroupName: Salt-tolerant and/or succulent Shrublands

EVCSubGroupNo: 20.1 SubGroupName: Coastal

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Mangrove Shrubland occurs in tiny strips along the coast and in river estuaries from Altona Bay to Barwon Heads. Mangrove Shrubland grows in saline waters, usually on mud flats within the tidal zone. Mangroves are common in this environment in warmer parts of Australia but are near their southern-most limit on the OP/VP and rarely grow over 1.5m in height. Mangrove Shrubland is often monospecific, dominated by White Mangrove. This EVC is usually surrounded by or associated with Coastal Saltmarsh Complex (EVC 9). Typical species growing next to the Mangroves are Sea Rush, Creeping Brookweed, Beaded Glasswort, Austral Seablite and Streaked Arrowgrass.

EVCSubGroupNo: 3.1 SubGroupName: Lowland Forests

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Lowland Forest occurs in the Brisbane Ranges National Park and the nearby Bamganie State Forest (VP/CVU) and in the Otways (OR/OP/WP).

VP/CVU

Lowland Forest grows on Tertiary sands/clays and the floristic and structural variation observed is possibly due to differing proportions of sand and clay in the soil. The land is flat and soils are often seasonally wet despite the low annual rainfall. The overstorey is a dense canopy of Messmate to 15m tall. The shrub layer is highly variable in height, species diversity and types of shrubs present (either narrow-leaved mesic or ericoid). The most common species include Myrtle Wattle, Dusty Miller, Common Flat-pea, Honey-pots, Erect Guinea-flower, Silver Banksia, Rusty Pomaderis, Heath Tea-tree, and Furze Hakea. The ground layer may be sparse but diverse in sedges, lilies, forbs and grasses. Species include Thatch Saw-sedge, Tortuous Rapier-sedge, Blue Squill, Reed Bent-grass, Button Everlasting, Trailing Goodenia and Wallaby-grasses. Austral Grass-tree was once common in this EVC, however it has declined due to the infestation of the Cinnamon fungus. It is still common in the adjacent better-drained soils which support Heathy Dry Forest.

OR

Within the Otways there are two forms of Lowland Forest. The first occurs on sandy loam to sandy orange clay loam soils in high rainfall areas and at moderate altitudes mostly concentrated in the vicinity of Cape Otway on duplex soils (sand/clay) and Carlisle State Park. Prior to European settlement Lowland Forest is presumed to have occurred extensively on the undulating terrain overlying the Gellibrand Marl geology. Limited examples of this remain. The characteristic feature of Lowland Forest is a diversity of species and lifeforms. The overstorey is usually dominated by Brown Stringybark but occasionally Messmate, Narrow-leaf Peppermint and the rare Bog Gum may co-occur. The understorey includes a combination of drier, ericoid species due to the sandier soils. Characteristic species are Prickly Tea-tree, Silver Banksia, Prickly Moses, Common Heath, Honey-pots, Common Correa, Broom Sedge, Large-leaf Bush-pea and Austral Grass-tree. On sites with a higher proportion of clay in the soil, species such as Narrow-leaf Wattle, Dusty Miller, Hop Goodenia, Pink-bells, Red-fruit Saw-sedge and Tall Sword-sedge occur. The ground layer consists of Spreading Rope-rush, Common Raspwort, Ivy-leaf Violet, Trailing Goodenia, Screw Fern and climbers such as Common Apple-berry and Downy Dodder-laurel. Austral Bracken and Forest Wire-grass are also quite common. Weed species are not common.

OP/WP

The second form of Lowland Forest differs in the dominance of species normally associated with Heathy Woodland (EVC 48) and the higher diversity of tussock-forming plants. This form occurs on gentle to moderate slopes of the Otway and Warrnabool Plains. Here soils are early to late Tertiary sediments of sandy loams and silty clay loams. Rainfall is lower at around 900mm per annum. The overstorey includes Narrow-leaf Peppermint, Messmate and Scentbark. The shrub layer includes Common Heath, Honey-pots, Prickly Geebung, Pink-bells and Common Aotus. The ground strata include Common Raspwort, Trailing Goodenia, Reed Bent-grass, Black-anther Flax-lily and Spreading Rope-rush. Sedges are also common and include Wattle Mat-rush, Many-flowered Mat-rush and Spiny-headed Mat-rush.

160 Coastal Dune Scrub

EVCGroupNo: 1 GroupName: Coastal Scrubs Grasslands & Woodlands

EVCSUBGroupNo: 1.1 SubGroupName: Coastal Scrubs Grasslands & Woodlands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Scrub or shrubland to 2-3 m tall on unconsolidated coastal sand dunes subject to strong salt-laden winds. Occurs extensively along the coast wherever sand dunes, as opposed to rocky cliffs and bluffs, are present. More protected, less saline and largely consolidated dunefields further inland support Calcareous Dune Woodland. Recently stabilised sections of the Discovery Bay and Bridgewater Bay dunes support this EVC. Recorded from the Warrnambool Plain bioregion (WP) at Peterborough. Mapped as a mosaic with Coastal Tussock Grassland (EVC1) on the Otway Plain (OP). Coastal Dune Scrub is dominated by Coast Beard-heath and/or Coast Wattle with a range of salt-tolerant species requiring good drainage. European grass, previously planted as a sand binder, is a major threat to this vegetation type.

161 Coastal Headland Scrub

EVCGroupNo: 1 GroupName: Coastal Scrubs Grasslands & Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 1.1 SubGroupName: Coastal Scrubs Grasslands & Woodlands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Coastal Headland Shrubland occurs in exposed situations on the limestone plains of coastal cliffs at Port Campbell and arkose sandstone cliffs at Cape Otway. The vegetation is often wind and salt-pruned due to exposure to prevailing south-west winds and salt spray. Fertile soils and high average annual rainfall combine to maintain a diversity of species. Coastal Headland Shrubland occurs on the more protected south-west slopes and east-facing gullies. Coastal Headland Shrubland is treeless, except for the occasional stunted Messmate. It is dominated by a closed heath of Manuka with Silver Banksia, Prickly Moses, Prickly Tea-tree and Dusty Miller often occurring in lower densities. Honey-pots, Coast Beard-heath, Ridged Ground-berry, Cranberry Heath, Common Correa, Common Heath and Rough Guinea-flower form a lower, ericoid shrub layer. Sedges such as Common Bog-sedge, Bare Twig-sedge, Short-stem Sedge and Coast Saw-sedge are often present. Blue Tussock-grass is the most common grass species, with occasional Grey Tussock-grass. A few scattered herbs are present including Ivy-leaf Violet, Common Raspwort, Kidney-weed and Shiny Swamp-mat. Weeds include Branched Centaury.

Notes: Recorded at Gellibrand Lower with Coastal tussock Grassland (EVC1-162 Coastal Headland Scrub/Coastal Tussock Grassland Mosaic)

163 Coastal Tussock Grassland

EVCGroupNo: 1 GroupName: Coastal Scrubs Grasslands & Woodlands

EVSubGroupNo: 1.1 SubGroupName: Coastal Scrubs Grasslands & Woodlands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Coastal Tussock Grassland occurs on cliff-top plateaus and other areas affected by seaspray. The soils are poorly structured with sands over bedrock that can only support shallow-rooted plants. Water availability at depth is often good due to the proximity of bedrock. Harsh site quality encourages stunted and poorly-formed plants. Blue Tussock-grass dominates the ground layer, with Cushion-bush as the only characteristic woody shrub. Other characteristic species include Bidgee-widgee, Knobby Club-rush, and Black-anther Flax-lily. This EVC is treeless. Other grasses include Tall Tussock-grass, Bristly Wallaby-grass, Common Blown Grass and Mat Grass. A few shrub species often occur, including Coast Beard-heath, Manuka, Silver Banksia and Coast Daisy-bush particularly as it grades to Coastal Headland Scrub. The ground layer may carry sedges such as Bare Twig-sedge, Common Bog-sedge, Short-stem sedge, Coast Saw-sedge and Coast Sword-sedge. Coastal Tussock Grassland supports a diversity of forbs in low densities. These include the endangered Metallic Sun-orchid, Coast Daisy, Kidney-weed, Angled Lobelia, Shiny Swamp-mat, Ivy-leaf Violet, Common Woodruff, Grassland Wood-sorrel, Bidgee-widgee and Rough Fireweed. A diversity of weed species may occur including: Common Centaury, Hairy Hawkbit, Pimpernel, Cat's Ear, Sow-thistle, Buck's-horn Plantain and Spear Thistle. Shallow ephemeral swamp depressions occur within this EVC. The zone where the water recedes allows herbs to establish, which links these ephemeral sites to the Coastal Tussock Grassland. Key species include Sea Rush and Knobby Club-rush.

Notes: wp235, 592, 129, Coastal Tussock Grassland near Port Campbell may occur as a mosaic with Coastal Headland Shrubland.

164 Creekline Herb-rich Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 16 GroupName: Herb-rich Woodlands
 EVCSUBGroupNo: 16.1 SubGroupName: Alluvial terraces and/or creeklines
 EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Creekline Herb-rich Woodland is found scattered across the drier sections of the CVU/VP bioregions, often growing in association with Heathy Dry Forest, Grassy Dry Forest or Valley Grassy Forest. It occurs on creek terraces of ephemeral streams. An open woodland of Swamp Gum, or the rare Yarra Gum, with occasional Manna Gum and Narrow-leaf Peppermint at the edges where it grades to Valley Grassy Forest. Scattered shrubs such as Blackwood, Silver Wattle, Large-leaf Bush-pea or Sweet Bursaria may be present along with clumps of Austral Bracken. The ground has a dense covering of Tall Tussock-grass with scattered herbs such as Cinquefoil Cranesbill, Bidgee-widgee, Prickly Starwort, Fireweed Groundsel, Kidney-weed and Common Maidenhair. The weeds Spear Thistle, Sweet Vernal Grass and Yorkshire Fog are also common. Major occurrences are along streams in the Brisbane Ranges National Park, Enfield State Park and the north eastern section of the Wombat State Forest.

165 Damp Heath Scrub

EVCGroupNo: 17 GroupName: Heathlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 17.2 SubGroupName: Not well-drained

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Damp Heath Scrub occurs on flat to gently sloping terrain, on or near coastal sites (OP/OR/WP). High rainfall and lack of drainage combine to retain high levels of moisture throughout the year.

Floristically this EVC carries influences of Wet Heath. The overstorey is generally sparse and includes Swamp Gum and, less commonly, Brown Stringybark. The shrub layer is very dense and includes Prickly Tea-tree, Silver Banksia, Prickly Moses, Scrub She-oak, Common Heath, Scented Paperbark, Dusty Miller and Honey-pots.

Other common species are Austral Grass-tree, Spreading Rope-rush, Slender Dodder-laurel, Common Rapier-sedge, Screw-fern and Horny Cone-bush.

Notes: Occurs near Port Campbell and in a number of widely distributed locations including Cooriemungle and Jancourt Forest/Hanson Plain public land blocks

SimilarEVCs: Wet Heath

Associated EVCs:

Rainfall (Ave or Range): high

Altitude:

Soils: waterlogged sands

17 Riparian Scrub Complex

EVCGroupNo: 8 GroupName: Riparian Scrubs or Swampy Shrubs & Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 8.1 SubGroupName: Riparian Scrubs or Swampy Shrubs & Woodlands

CCMA

EVCType: complex

RegDescription: Riparian Scrub is restricted to parts of the Otway and Warrnambool Plains (OP/WP) with an underlying Tertiary sands geology. The most well developed examples occur in drainage lines where stream alluvium is present. This EVC typically forms in broad, gently sloping drainage lines and is commonly surrounded by Heathy Woodland (EVC 48) or Wet Heathland (EVC 8). The average annual rainfall varies substantially from approximately 650mm in the Anglesea area to 900-1300mm in the Carlisle River area. It occurs along the Gellibrand River, near the junction with Carlisle River and further downstream on the flood-plain sections. Structurally, Riparian Scrub is a closed scrub 2.5 to 6m tall. Species diversity is low due to the dense cover of Scented Paperbark and less commonly Prickly Tea-tree. Scattered overstorey trees are often present, usually Manna Gum and Messmate. Common species in the understorey include Red-fruit Saw-sedge, Spreading Rope-rush and Variable Sword-sedge.

Notes:

SimilarEVCs:

Associated EVCs: EVC48, EVC8

Rainfall (Ave or Range): 650-1300mm

Altitude: 20-170m

Soils: Underlying Tertiary sands, especially with overlying alluvial deposits

175 Grassy Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 5 GroupName: Lower Slopes or Hills Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 5.2 SubGroupName: Grassy

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Pre-European settlement Grassy Woodland occurred across large areas, on a variety of geologies and in a range of environments. All Grassy Woodlands, not considered part of Plains Grassy Woodland (EVC55) are placed in this group. It is a very broad EVC which encompasses a number of floristic communities. Further sampling and analyses are required to refine these groupings. In general, Grassy Woodlands grow in areas with moderate to low rainfall and relatively fertile soils in the CVU/VP/OP.

The largest area of Grassy Woodland is on the eastern section of the Otway Plain (including the Bellarine Peninsula). This is a large area of gently undulating plains extending from Portarlington to Colac. Geology is Tertiary sands (The same land form and geology continues further west but with increased rainfall it supports forested communities). Altitude is generally below 250m and the average annual rainfall varies from a low of 550mm p. a. near Torquay to 700mm at Colac. In the drier eastern sections, the overstorey is dominated by Drooping She-oak with Manna Gum and Black Wattle. The shrub layer is sparse and includes scattered Golden Wattle and Sweet Bursaria. The ground layer is likely to have been dominated by Wallaby-grasses and Spear Grasses. As rainfall increases to the west, Drooping She-oak and shrubs disappear, Manna Gum and Blackwood become dominant in the overstorey and Kangaroo Grass dominates the ground layer.

Other areas with Grassy Woodland include:

The Barrabool Hills just southwest of Geelong. Low but highly dissected hills of Cretaceous sandstone. Rainfall is low and the few remnants suggest the vegetation was similar to the nearby drier sections of the Otway Plain. Whether the steep sided valleys had the same vegetation as the flatter hill tops was not clear. These hills have been virtually completely cleared

The Pentland Hills, north west of Bacchus Marsh. Steeply dissected hills of highly weathered Tertiary volcanics ranging from an altitude of 200m asl and 500mm annual rainfall at Bacchus Marsh to 500m and 700mm at Greendale. The overstorey is dominated by scattered Candlebark and Swamp Gum and Blackwood near Greendale and of White Cypress Pine on steep and otherwise bare scree slopes near Bacchus Marsh. Black Wattle is present throughout.

Low hills just east of the Bamganie State Forest (southwest of Meredith). Gently undulating hills of Ordovician sediments and Tertiary fluvial gravels and silts. Altitude is 300m asl and mean annual rainfall is approximately 650mm. The overstorey is dominated by Manna Gum with patches of Swamp Gum and scattered tall shrubs including Blackwood, Black Wattle and Black She-oak. The ground layer is dominated by Spear-grasses with Wallaby-grasses, Kangaroo Grass, Black-anther Flax-lily and Honey-pots.

The Ordovician soils bordering the Rokewood Plain (Illabarook-Rokewood Junction-Corindhap)

Flagstaff Hill near Linton (Floristic Community 175-11 Granitic Grassy Woodland)
Granitic Grassy Woodland is a highly variable group and represents all Grassy Woodlands occurring on granite geologies within the study area. Variability in the structure and mineralogy of different granites (particularly clay content) impacts on the fertility and water holding capacity of the derived soils which in turn influences the vegetation present at a site. Granitic Grassy Woodland occurs on highly weathered granites, on gentle to flat topography and in moderate rainfall areas. The largest area is the Flagstaff Hill area, west of Linton where altitude ranges from 300-450m asl and average annual rainfall is approximately 650mm. The overstorey is dominated by Scent-bark with Messmate Stringybark. The ground layer is rich in grasses and forbs. Common species include Kangaroo Grass, Common Wheat-grass, Wallaby-grasses, Grey Tussock-grass, Velvet Tussock-grass, Bidgee-widgee, Common Everlasting, Stinking Pennywort and Common Rice-flower. This floristic community also occurs in the Yendon/Mt Egerton area where altitude ranges from 480-540m asl and rainfall is approximately 700-800mm per annum. The overstorey varies from open woodland towards open forest. It is dominated by Manna Gum and Narrow-leaf Peppermint with scattered Swamp Gum, Snow Gum and the understorey tree Blackwood. The ground layer is diverse and includes Tussock-grasses, Wallaby-grasses, Reed Bent-grass, Weeping Grass, Yellow Rush-lily, Austral Bracken and Common Rice-flower.

Low Rises Grassy Woodland occurs on the lowest of rises on the boundary between the infertile Ordovician sediments of the hills and the more fertile Quaternary alluvials and colluvial geologies of the plains. Altitude varies from 200 to 300m, rainfall is generally below 550mm per annum. The overstorey is dominated by Grey Box, though Yellow Gum may be co-dominant and Yellow Box is occasionally present. The shrub layer can be sparse or dense but is generally low and lacks diversity. Species include Sticky Wattle, Gold-dust Wattle, Golden Wattle, Drooping Cassinia, Grey Everlasting and Moonah. The ground layer is often sparse but diverse in grasses and forbs including Spear-grasses, Wallaby-grasses, Grey Tussock-grass, Common Wheat-grass, Windmill Grass, Saloop saltbush, Fuzzy New Holland Daisy, Pink Bindweed, Shiny Everlasting and Small-leaved Clematis.

178 Herb-rich Foothill Forest / Shrubby Foothill Forest Complex

EVCGroupNo: 6 GroupName: Dry Forests
 EVCSUBGroupNo: 6.2 SubGroupName: Sheltered and/or higher altitude
 EVCType: complex

CCMA

RegDescription: Along the western edge of the Wombat State Forest near Barkstead in the CVU a large area has been mapped as Shrubby Foothill Forest/Herb-rich Foothill Forest Complex. This contains the diverse herb layer of Herb-rich Foothill Forest (EVC 23) while retaining the diverse shrub layer of Shrubby Foothill Forest (EVC 45). It is usually dominated by species which occur at the drier end of both EVC's.

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Riparian Forest is scattered throughout the region (OR/OP/WP) as narrow bands along the banks and alluvial terraces of (usually) perennial swift flowing streams. Soils are well-drained and alluvial and a constant supply of moisture supports a tall, high biomass, multi-layered, species-rich forest. The overstorey is usually patchy in cover. It is dominated by Manna Gum with Blue Gum, Narrow-leaf Peppermint, Messmate and Swamp Gum also occurring. The small tree layer includes Blackwood, Silver Wattle and Hazel Pomaderris. The tall shrub stratum includes Prickly Currant-bush, Hop Goodenia and Austral Mulberry. The groundlayer is diverse in water-dependent species including sedges, forbs and ferns. Species present include Fishbone Water-fern, Water-ribbons, Austral Brooklime, Tall Sedge, Swamp Club-sedge and Rushes. Due to a history of disturbance in many of these areas and the moist, fertile nature of the soils weeds such as Blackberry and Yorkshire Fog-grass are common and may dominate.

Within the Otway Ranges, Riparian Forest occurs along rivers and creeks, on alluvial terraces and occasionally in the heads of gullies leading into creeks and rivers. The rainfall of is high, averaging 1250mm per annum and average altitude is 200m asl. Soils are alluvial, fine grey sand at the surface, gradually changing to a mottled orange clay loam at depth. The overstorey is dominated by Blackwood with Manna Gum occurring in less than half of the sites surveyed. The rare Brooker's Gum may also be present. The understorey includes a variety of tall shrubs including Austral Mulberry, Prickly Currant-bush, Musk Daisy-bush, Hazel Pomaderris, Banyalla and Privet Mock-olive. The ground layer is dominated by a high diversity of moisture-dependent ferns. Taller ferns and epiphytes include Kangaroo Fern, Soft tree-fern and Rough Tree-fern. Rare plants include: Skirted Tree-fern, Slender Tree-fern, Ground Spleenwort, Tufted Club-sedge and Snowdrop Wood-sorrel. Other species include Scrub Nettle, Shade Nettle, Forest Starwort, Tall Sedge and the weed Blackberry.

181 Coast Gully Thicket

EVCGroupNo: 1 GroupName: Coastal Scrubs Grasslands & Woodlands

EVSubGroupNo: 1.1 SubGroupName: Coastal Scrubs Grasslands & Woodlands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Coast Gully Thicket occurs along drainage lines and small creeks close to the coast. The soils are shallow sands grading to clay over limestone. Closed coastal scrub is a wind stressed environment as the prevailing south-west winds prune plants greater than three metres in height. Swamp Gum and Messmate Stringybark are the dominant eucalypts and are short, wind pruned individuals. Some of the sites lack a eucalypt overstorey. This EVC is dominated by a dense cover of Rough Guinea-flower and Austral Bracken. Manuka also adds to the dense thicket, making it difficult for other plants to establish at ground level. Prickly Tea-tree and Coast Beard-heath occasionally contribute to the shrub layer. Easterly sites that offer some protection, provide suitable conditions for tufted graminoids to establish such as Spiny-headed Mat-rush, Black-anther Flax-lily, Coast Saw-sedge, Tall Sword-sedge and Variable Sword-sedge and Common Tussock-grass. Downy Dodder-laurel takes advantage of the shrub structure and Mountain Clematis is the other climber.

Notes: Occurs on WP between Port Campbell and Princeton

196 Seasonally-inundated Sub-saline Herbland

EVCGroupNo: 20 GroupName: Salt-tolerant and/or succulent Shrublands

EVCSubGroupNo: 20.1 SubGroupName: Coastal

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Seasonally inundated Sub-saline Herbland occurs in the Lake Connewarre State Game Reserve south of Geelong (OP), which is the only known location of this EVC in Victoria. It occupies the centre of a broad shallow basin, the relict of a former tidal lagoon. The area is totally surrounded by Coastal Saltmarsh Complex. It is not affected by tides, however a shallow brackish lake forms over the Herbland for several months following major floods of the Barwon River (2 km to the north). The soil is a grey silty clay and the geology is recent aeolian estuarine sands. The distinctive grey, prostrate shrub Silky Wilsonia dominates, forming extensive, almost pure stands. Narrow-leaf Wilsonia and Round-leaf Wilsonia are common in depressions at the southern end of the herbland along with Beaded Glasswort.

Notes: wp238, OP examples: Bellarine Peninsula (Moolap to Anglesea).

198 Sedgy Riparian Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 15 GroupName: Riverine Grassy Woodlands or Forests

EVCSubGroupNo: 15.2 SubGroupName: Creekline and/or swampy

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Sedgy Riparian Woodland has a widespread distribution with occurrences in all five bioregions although always limited in extent.

In the CVU/VP it occurs in broad flat drainage lines which may be seasonally inundated. Soils are generally recent Quaternary alluvium of varying depths. This EVC occurs in a wide range of altitudes and rainfall. Sedgy Riparian Woodland usually has an overstorey of Swamp Gum or the rare Yarra Gum over an open shrub layer of Blackwood, Prickly Moses, Prickly Tea-tree and Wiry Bossiaea. The groundlayer is often dominated by a very dense sward of Red-fruit Saw-sedge and/or Tall Sword-sedge. Sometimes it is more open with scattered clumps of Spiny-headed Mat-rush among a layer of small sedges, rushes and herbs including Spreading Rope-rush, Club-sedges, Rushes, Slender Tussock-grass, Weeping grass, Kidney-weed and Prickfoot. Weed species are often present due to high soil fertility and moisture availability. These include Yorkshire Fog-grass, Cat's ear, Sweet Vernal-grass and Perennial Thistle.

Within the Otways (OR/OP/WP), Sedgy Riparian Woodland occurs on riparian flats of creeks that are frequently inundated by flooding or along drainage lines carrying ephemeral streams. The soils are alluvial grey silty loams to silty clay loams. These soils are typically deep but occasionally shallow over a layer of clay. Average altitude is 110m asl and an average annual rainfall is 800mm. Some sites mapped as Sedgy Riparian Woodland are not directly associated with creeks or drainage lines but occur up-slope from these areas. These tend to have more herbs and grasses dominating the ground layer and less sedges, thereby expressing an affinity with EVC 23 Herb-rich Foothill Forest. Generally this EVC is dominated by a Swamp Gum overstorey, 25 to 30m tall and is often associated with Messmate. Prickly Tea-tree, Prickly Moses, Scented Paperbark and Prickly Currant-bush often form dense stands in the shrub layer. A dense layer of sedges in the ground stratum is characteristic. This layer is commonly comprised of Variable Sword-sedge though Red-fruit Saw-sedge and Thatch Saw-sedge can also form dense stands. More open sites allow herbs to establish such as Common Raspwort, Shady Wood-sorrel, Bidgee-widgee, Ivy-leaf Violet, Matted Pratia, Kidney-weed and Hairy Pennywort. Austral Brooklime is present at creek sites. Slender Tussock-grass and Forest Wire-grass are the dominant grasses, with the occasional Weeping Grass. Often Sedgy Riparian Woodland borders fertile farmlands and subsequently weedy herbs and grass species such as Cat's Ear and Yorkshire Fog are present

20 Heathy Dry Forest

EVCGroupNo: 6 GroupName: Dry Forests
 EVCSUBGroupNo: 6.1 SubGroupName: Exposed and/or lower altitude
 EVCType: EVC

CCMA

RegDescription: Heathy Dry Forest is widespread at lower elevations in the lower rainfall areas, where it grows on gentle slopes and on all aspects. In higher rainfall areas it is restricted to exposed slopes and ridgetops. It occurs on Ordovician shales and sandstones which produce skeletal soils with low fertility and water-holding capacities. Recorded in the CVU and VP, although within the latter areas consists of 'islands' of Ordovician material not covered by basalt. The largest areas of Heathy Dry Forest are on the broad flat ridges of the Brisbane Ranges National Park, the Lerderderg and Enfield State Park and the more exposed slopes and ridges in the southern part of the Wombat State Forest. Heathy Dry forest has a similar structure throughout the region though floristics and diversity of the understorey vary greatly. The overstorey is a low open forest though it may often tend toward a woodland in tree density and tree form. Messmate and Brown Stringybark dominate in the Brisbane Ranges. Messmate, Broad-leaf Peppermint and Scent-bark dominate in Enfield Forest while Broad-leaf Peppermint, Red Stringybark and Red Box are common in the Lerderderg SP.

The shrub layer is extremely variable floristically and structurally, depending on site characteristics and management history. Many sites have been subject to a long history of disturbance by burning, clearing and mining. Generally dominated by low ericoid shrubs dominated by the Fabaceae, Proteaceae and Epacridaceae. Species present may include Daphne Heath and Common Beard-heath in the northern areas, Common Heath, Bushy Hakea and Bushy Parrot-pea in Lerderderg State Park, Myrtle Wattle, Golden Bush-pea, Narrow-leaf Bitter-pea and Small Grass-tree in Enfield State Park and Austral Grass-tree and Matted Bush-pea in the Brisbane Ranges National Park. The ground layer is generally sparse with a low diversity of scattered forbs and grasses. The most common species are Common Raspwort, Mat-rushes, Variable Stinkweed, Black-anther Flax-lily, Common Hovea, Grey Tussock-grass and Silvertop Wallaby-grass.

Many areas identified as Heathy Dry Forest are floristically depauperate. These tend to be areas with a long history of disturbance by frequent fires and clearing and massive soil disturbance for mining which have resulted in a severe reduction in species diversity. The shrub layer is sparse to non-existent and the ground layer is often dominated by Silvertop Wallaby-grass with few other species present. Although the species which are present all commonly occur in Heathy Dry Forest, most characteristic species are absent, particularly in the shrub layer (which is the characteristic feature of Heathy Dry Forest).

201 Shrubby Wet Forest

EVCGroupNo: 7 GroupName: Wet or Damp Forests

EVCSubGroupNo: 7.1 SubGroupName: Wet

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Shrubby Wet Forest is widely distributed in the Otways (OR/OP/WP). It occupies western and northern aspects and ridgelines and grows in association with Wet Forest (EVC30) where the elevation and rainfall decreases. Average annual rainfall is high, soils are fertile clay loams over medium to heavy clay. Shrubby Wet Forest differs from Wet Forest in generally having no epiphyte cover, a lower diversity of ground ferns, and Rough Tree-fern is the common tree-fern (Soft Tree-fern occurring only rarely). In addition, it has a higher diversity and cover of herbs due to increased light reaching the forest floor. The overstorey is a tall forest dominated by Messmate, Mountain Grey Gum, and Manna Gum. Blackwood and Hazel Pomaderris form a lower tree layer. The tall-shrub layer is dominated by mesic shrubs including Prickly Currant-bush, Musk Daisy-bush, Snow daisy-bush, Hazel Pomaderris, Tree Everlasting and Austral Mulberry. Prickly Moses and Hop Goodenia form a mid shrub layer. Tree-form Varnish Wattle and Dwarf Silver Wattle and the shrubs Balm Mint-bush and Dusty Miller also commonly occur, their density varying, possibly in response to timber harvesting. Rough Tree-fern and Mother Shield-fern are common ferns with Austral Bracken dominating. The ground layer may be sparse and includes the herbs Bidgee-widgee, Cinquefoil Cranesbill, Ivy-leaf Violet, Creeping Wood-sorrel, Galium sp. and Forest Starwort. Mountain Clematis is the only climber and Tall Sword-sedge the only sedge. Forest Wire-grass is commonly present and may dominate, often in response to disturbance.

203 Stoney Rises Herb-rich Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 14 GroupName: Plains Grassy Woodlands or Forests

EVCSubGroupNo: 14.1 SubGroupName: Freely-draining

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Stony Rises Woodland is found on Quaternary volcanics of the western volcanic plains of Victoria where lava tunnels have collapsed forming a mosaic of rocky woodland and wetlands. These wetlands are typically Plains Sedgy Wetland (EVC647). Stony Rises Woodland occurs on soils derived from quaternary basalt and in some places may be shallow or absent where bedrock protrudes from the surface. Occurs in the VP on the east and west sides of Lake Corangamite (Pomboneit, Cundare North, Wool Wool, Weerite, Chocolyn) and at Derrinallum and Vite Vite. Structurally the vegetation is an open grassy woodland to 15m tall. The topography is undulating. Much of the prior extent of this EVC has been cleared for agriculture. The overstorey is dominated by Manna Gum and Swamp Gum. The shrub layer is scattered and includes Shiny Cassinia, Blackwood, Tree Violet, Cherry Ballart and the occasional Musk Daisy-bush surviving on rocky rises. The ground layer is dominated by Austral Bracken and Tall Tussock-grass. Also occurring are Senecio spp, Sickle Fern, Geranium spp, Spiny-headed Mat-rush, Pterostylis spp and Pelargonium spp. Weeds include: Yorkshire Fog, Cat's Ear, *Aira spp and Cleavers.

Occurs as two distinct forms on the southwest and southeast sides of Lake Corangamite.

Southwest. These higher rainfall sites carry Manna Gum with a Bracken and Tall tussock-grass dominated groundlayer. Blackwood and Tree Violet are common

Southeast. Lower rainfall sites where Eucalypts are absent and Bracken/Tall Tussock-grass less common if not absent. Tree Violet may dominate (shrubland) with taller scattered Bursaria. Some sites may have a sparse overstorey of Drooping Sheoak or Silver Banksia (mostly cleared). Redgums may fringe the wetlands this vegetation type often grades to.

Stoney Rises Herb-rich Woodland also grades to Lake Corangamite (salt marsh vegetation) on both sides of the lake.

Notes: Stony Rises Woodland occurs at the Floating Islands Reserve along the Princes Highway west of Colac. The reserve has a history of grazing and much of it is in extremely poor condition and weed-invaded.

RegDescription: Shrubby Dry Forest is a low, open forest with a diverse though sometimes sparse shrub layer and sparse and species-poor ground layer. Recorded for the CVU, OP and OR Bioregions. Four floristic communities of Shrubby Dry Forest are currently recognised in the region.

Midlands Escarpments Shrubby Dry Forest occurs on very steep, exposed, rocky slopes in the Brisbane Ranges National Park, Lerderderg State Park and Werribee Gorge State Park. The soils are infertile and skeletal (to virtually non-existent), derived from Ordovician shale and sandstones. The steepness and lack of soil combined with an annual rainfall of less than 600mm create an extremely low effective rainfall and harsh site quality. In its most extreme habitats this floristic community may structurally resemble a Rocky Outcrop Shrubland. The overstorey may contain any combination of Brown Stringybark, Red Ironbark, Long-leaf Box and Red Box. These are low, often less than five metres tall and spreading in form. The shrubby stratum is diverse and sparse though Golden Wattle may occasionally form a dense layer. Other species include Shiny Cassinia, Large-leaf Bush-pea, Prunus Pomaderris, Shrubby Platysace, Digger's Speedwell and Fragrant Saltbush. The ground layer is sparse and low in diversity, most species restricted to crevices and rocky shelves. Species present include Black-anther Flax-lily, Many-flowered Mat-rush, Fireweed Groundsel, Australian Stonecrop, Karkalla, and Pink Purslane.

Midlands Depauperate Shrubby Dry Forest occurs on dry ridges on the northern and western edges of the Wombat State Forest. Soils are infertile, derived from Ordovician shales and sandstones. Rainfall is higher at around 750mm per annum. Topography is gently sloping to flat. The overstorey is dominated by Messmate to 20m tall. The understorey is very low and sparse or totally bare. Narrow-leaf Hop-bush, Narrow-leaf Wattle, Thin-leaf Wattle, Common Hovea, Black-anther Flax-lily, Common Heath and Trailing Ground-berry are common. Silvertop Wallaby-grass may dominate.

Lerderderg Shrubby Dry Forest occurs in the Lerderderg State Park on steep slopes and narrow, exposed ridgetops. Soils are similar to Midlands Escarpments Shrubby Dry Forest but slopes are less steep producing a slightly better site quality. Vegetation is more dense but generally more species poor. The overstorey is dominated by low Red Stringybark, 4-10m tall with Broad-leaf Peppermint, Red Ironbark and Long-leaf Box. The shrub stratum is often dominated by dense stands of Narrow-leaf Hop-bush. Other shrubs include Golden Wattle, Large-leaf Bush-pea, Common Heath and Daphne Heath. The ground layer is sparse and rarely includes more than Common Raspwort, Silvertop Wallaby-grass and Black-anther Flax-lily.

Otways Shrubby Dry Forest has a limited distribution centred near the boundary of the lower Cretaceous and late Tertiary sediments near Aireys Inlet. The most well developed examples occur on exposed western and northern aspects on moderate slopes. The soils are orange-brown silty loams to silty clay loams. The average annual rainfall is 650-800mm and altitude is approximately 10-200 m asl. The overstorey is an open forest dominated by Messmate, Blue Gum, Scentbark and Red Ironbark. The shrub stratum is diverse and dense and includes Large-leaf Bush-pea, Common Heath, Prickly Moses, Narrow-leaf Wattle and Nettle Daisy-bush. The ground stratum may vary in density and includes a number of grasses, the more common being Grey-tussock Grass, Silver-top Wallaby-grass and Short-hair Plume-grass. Sedges are strongly represented by Wattle Mat-rush, Many-flowered Mat-rush, Spiny-headed Mat-rush and Thatch Saw-sedge. Other common species include Trailing Goodenia, Honey-pots and Love Creeper.

22 Grassy Dry Forest

EVCGroupNo: 6 GroupName: Dry Forests
 EVCSUBGroupNo: 6.1 SubGroupName: Exposed and/or lower altitude
 EVCType: EVC

CCMA

RegDescription: Grassy Dry Forest occurs on moderately fertile soils derived from Ordovician shales and sandstones. It is more common on sheltered aspects, slopes may be steep or gentle. The overstorey is a low forest 6-15m tall and trees may grow in a spreading 'woodland' form. Tree species varies across the region and includes Scent-bark, Broad-leaf Peppermint, Messmate and Red Stringybark. Long-leaf Box, Red Box, Yellow Box, Yellow Gum, Bluegum and Candlebark are also present at certain sites. There is little or no shrub layer, though disturbance by fire may encourage dense stands of Narrow-leaf Bitter-pea. The ground layer is dominated by a diversity of grasses and forbs though in dry periods many species retreat to rootstock or soil-stored seed. Common grasses include Grey Tussock-grass, Red-anther Wallaby-grass, Plume-grasses and Wallaby grasses. Common associated species include Wattle Mat-rush, Rock-fern, Variable Plantain, Blue Pincushion, Yam Daisy, Cotton fireweed and Magenta Stork's-bill. Many species are area-specific such as Clustered Everlasting. Weeds include Hair Grasses and Quaking Grass. Grassy Dry Forest often occurs in association with Heathy Dry Forest and in frequently burnt or disturbed areas where diagnostic species may be missing the two EVC's can be difficult to distinguish as only the hardy species common to both EVC's remain. In such areas the vegetation is sometimes mapped as EVC 320 Heathy Dry Forest/Grassy Dry Forest Complex.

Within the Otways (OR) Grassy Dry Forest is only identified in an area just west of Lorne. Average annual rainfall is 800-950mm and elevation is 80-250m asl. Soils are shallow and rocky and are less weathered and have a higher iron content than soils of the adjacent Shrubby Foothill Forest (EVC21). Grassy Dry Forest is confined to northern and western aspects on gentle to moderately steep slopes and ridges. The overstorey is a low forest 15-20m tall dominated by Scentbark, Blue Gum and Mountain Grey Gum. The shrub stratum is low in diversity and sparse, except in areas affected by the 1983 wildfires, which are dominated by dense stands of Hop Wattle and Hop Goodenia. These are behaving as post-fire regenerators, which take advantage of conditions during and immediately following a wildfire to dominate for a short period and are now senescing. The diversity of grasses in the ground stratum characterises this EVC. Common species are Wallaby grasses, Plume-grasses, Silvertop Wallaby-grass, Soft tussock-grass, Grey Tussock-grass and Weeping grass. *Sweet Vernal-grass and Common Tussock-grass occur in sites with increased moisture availability. Common herbaceous species include Variable Stinkweed, Laginifera spp., *Common Centaury, Blue Pincushion, Milkmaids and Small St. John's Wort.

23 Herb-rich Foothill Forest

EVCGroupNo: 6 GroupName: Dry Forests

EVCSubGroupNo: 6.2 SubGroupName: Sheltered and/or higher altitude

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Herb-rich Foothill Forest was formerly widespread, recorded all five bioregions. It occurs in areas with high rainfall and fertile soils, though it also occurs on some moderately fertile soils. It is the borderline EVC between dry and wet (Otway) Forests. The main occurrences within the study area are in the Wombat State Forest on both fertile soils derived from basalt and much less fertile soils derived from Ordovician shales and sandstone and in Otway Ranges on gradational clay loams over mottled clays. Also occurs in the upper Yarrowee River catchment and on Mt Buninyong and Mt Warrenheip. In general, Herb-rich Foothill Forest is a medium to tall open forest with a sparse to non-existent shrub layer and a diverse ground layer of forbs and grasses. The overstorey in the CVU is dominated by Messmate and Manna Gum with some Narrow-leaf Peppermint while in the Otways, Manna Gum and Mountain Grey Gum codominate. Silver Wattle Acacia dealbata is often the only shrub present though Narrow-leaf Wattle and Prickly Currant-bush may be present. The groundlayer is dominated by Tall Tussock-grass and Bracken. Within the Otways Herb-rich Foothill Forest occurs inland from the coast, in the Angahook Lorne State Park, Lorne State Forest and east of Carlisle State Park. This EVC occurs at an average altitude of 290m asl and mean annual rainfall of is 1100mm. Other species may include Narrow-leaf Peppermint, Blue Gum, Scentbark and Swamp Gum. Blackwood is occasional as an understorey tree. The shrub layer is unusually diverse and this may be in response to disturbance from frequent burning or high visitor pressure in recreational areas. Species present may include Tree Everlasting, Narrow-leaf Wattle, Prickly Moses, Snow Daisy-bush, Prickly Currant-bush and Hop Goodenia. Austral Bracken is nearly always found beneath the shrubs. The ground stratum is diverse in forbs and grasses, many of them weeds. Species present include the vulnerable Wrinkled Buttons, Austral Cranesbill, Ivy-leaf Violet, *Cat's Ears, Yellow Wood-sorrel, Bidgee-widgee, Prickly Starwort, Common Raspwort, Matted Pratia, Grasses: Slender Tussock-grass, Tall Tussock-grass and Weeping Grass. Wire Grass is common and may intertwine through the shrubs and along the ground.

Notes: Many areas identified as Herb-rich Foothill Forest are floristically depauperate. These areas lack the species rich herb layer that characterizes this EVC due to disturbance/management history.

233 Wet Sands Thicket

EVCGroupNo: 8 GroupName: Riparian Scrubs or Swampy Shrubs & Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 8.1 SubGroupName: Riparian Scrubs or Swampy Shrubs & Woodlands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Wet Sands Thicket has a limited distribution within the Otways (OR/OP/WP) and is restricted to areas that combine high rainfall with sandy Tertiary outwash geology. Average annual rainfall is high at 1300mm where this EVC is best developed, dropping to 1000–1200mm in more marginal sites. The soils are characteristically deep, coarse grey sands. The overstorey is a tall open forest dominated by Messmate, Brown Stringybark and Blue Gum, ranging in height from 30–50m. At Cape Otway, the rare Bog Gum dominates. The shrub layer is characteristically dense to impenetrable and is strongly represented by Showy Bossiaea, Bushy Broom-heath and to a lesser extent by Forest Boronia, Victorian Christmas-bush, Musk Daisy-bush and Scented Paperbark. The ground layer is sparse to absent due to competition from the dense shrub stratum. Other characteristic species include Red-fruit Saw-sedge, Prickly Tea-tree, Stinkwood, Handsome Flat-pea, Wiry Bauera and Austral Bracken.

282 Shrubby Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 2 GroupName: Heathy Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 2.1 SubGroupName: Dry and/or better drained

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Shrubby Woodland occurs in a small area of the Brisbane Ranges National Park on Tertiary sands and clays (CVU). It grows on the boundary between Plains Grassy Woodland (EVC55) and Lowland Forest (EVC16). The area is flat. The overstorey is dominated by Messmate over a low, sparse, heathy shrub layer including Prickly Tea-tree, Heath Tea-tree, Honey-pots and Common Beard-heath. The ground stratum is diverse and includes Hidden Violet, Trailing Goodenia, Creeping Bossiaea, Common Bog-sedge, Weeping Grass and Yellow Rush-lily.

29 Damp Forest

EVCGroupNo: 7 GroupName: Wet or Damp Forests

EVCSubGroupNo: 7.2 SubGroupName: Damp

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Damp Forest is restricted in its distribution, occurring on moderate to steep slopes within the highest rainfall areas. It is mostly found in the Wombat State Forest in sheltered gullies on alluvial deposits at altitudes of 650-800m asl and an annual rainfall of 950-1150mm. Damp Forest also occurs at Mt Macedon on well-developed soils derived from rhyodacite soils at altitudes of 600-950m asl. At lower elevations it is only found in sheltered gullies, but over 900m asl it is found on all aspects. The tall overstorey (to 35m) is dominated by Messmate with a lower tree layer of Blackwood to 20m. This EVC is characterized by the dense shrub layer in the understorey dominated by Musk Daisy-bush with Prickly Moses, Prickly Currant-bush and Hazel Pomaderris. The most common forbs and grasses are Ivy-leaf Violet, Bidgee-widgee, Kidney-weed, Hairy Pennywort, Prickly Starwort, Small Poranthera, Mountain Clematis, Spiny-headed Mat-rush, Black-anther Flax-lily, Turquoise Berry, Tall Tussock-grass, Weeping Grass and Forest Wire-grass. Austral Bracken is also very common and often dominates the understorey. The groundlayer also carries a diversity of ferns including Mother Shield-fern and Fishbone Water-fern. Damp Forest differs from Wet Forest by the absence of tree-ferns and the higher proportion of moisture dependent species. Damp Forest was modeled in the Otway Ranges but there are no known extant sites.

Notes: In the Wombat State Forest, Damp Forest occurs in association with Shrubby Foothill Forest while at Macedon it is to Herb-rich Foothill Forest and Wet Forest.

291 Cane Grass Wetland

EVCGroupNo: 19 GroupName: Wetlands

EVSubGroupNo: 19.1 SubGroupName: Freshwater

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Cane Grass Wetlands are shallow (~1m in depth) and occur on the northern Victorian alluvial plain in depressions with a clay soil base. The period of inundation lasts for approximately 4-6 months. The EVC is not recorded in the region but has been modeled. Structurally this EVC is an open swamp or shallow freshwater marsh dominated by Barren Cane Grass (vulnerable in Victoria) with other occasional species including Spiny Flat-sedge, Common Spike-sedge, Upright Milfoil, Red Milfoil and Floating Pondweed. The outer periphery of the swamp may be fringed with a woodland of River Red Gum (and occasionally Grey Box on Northern plains). The outer verge may be more diverse and grade into Plains Grassy Wetland or Plains Grassy Woodland.

292 Red Gum Wetland

EVCGroupNo: 19 GroupName: Wetlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 19.1 SubGroupName: Freshwater

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Redgum woodland with sedgy or grassy-herbaceous ground-layer, comprising various balances of true aquatics and species tolerant of intermittent to seasonal inundation. Occurs in seasonally wet depressions on plains, typically associated with heavy paludal soils, sometimes with Gilgai development. Previously common in suitable habitat but now largely cleared. Modeled for the CCMA region but no extant sites known

As such the descriptions below refer to other regions

Grampians Red Gum Wetland - Drainage lines, swampy depressions and seasonally inundated areas dominated by Redgum woodland with a sparse shrub cover of Scented Paperbark. Groundlayer is dominated by Rush Sedge, Floating Club-sedge, Amphibious Milfoil and a variety of other sedges and semi-aquatic plants.

Wimmera 1 Red Gum Wetland - Seasonal wetland (sometimes with more consistently wet centres) in depressions on heavy soils within fertile plains. Redgum Woodland to open-woodland, trees to 30+ m, with ground-layer typically dominated by aquatic herbs (including Milfoil species, Running Marsh-flower and Floating Pondweed), at least in the wet central areas. A range of inundation-tolerant herbs, sedges and grasses is often also present, principally on drier verges which are quite species-rich, and floristics can resemble Plains Grassy Wetland.

Structure: primarily over a strata of aquatic herbs and inundation tolerant herbs, sedges and grasses.

Wimmera 2 Red Gum Wetland - Shallow seasonal/intermittent wetland on pale grey-pink hard-setting gritty silt soils with heavy subsoils, on shallow depressions within shallower sand sheet areas. Woodland or open-woodland (12–25+ m) or low sedgeland (0.2–0.5 m) to open-shrubland (1–2 m) in wetter portions dominated by Redgum and Buloke ± Yellow Gum, Yellow Box and Grey Box, ground strata sedgy (notably with Black Bristle-sedge and Clustered Sword-sedge), with sparse shrubs and a very diverse range of waterlogging tolerant grasses, geophytes and herbs, many at low frequencies.

Wimmera 3 Red Gum Wetland - Seasonally wet depressions on fertile heavy soils. Woodland or open-woodland, generally to 20–30 m tall dominated by Redgum with relatively species-rich ground-layer typically dominated by inundation tolerant grasses, herbs and Nardoo. Main species include Cane Grass, Common Blown Grass, Prickfoot, Nardoo, Swamp Daisy and Swamp Billy-buttons. This drier version of the EVC has strong floristic affinities with Plains Grassy Wetland.

3 Damp Sands Herb-rich Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 16 GroupName: Herb-rich Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 16.2 SubGroupName: Damp sands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Damp Sands Herb-rich Woodland occurs on deep sandy loams, usually associated with adjacent creeks or seasonal lakes and swamps. In the CVU/VP it occurs in the Langi Ghiran State Park (outside CCMA region) and in small patches around the Upper Stony Creek Reservoirs (near the Brisbane Ranges) at altitudes ranging from 350-600m above sea level (asl). In the Otways it occurs on public land near the coast with an average altitude of 70m asl. It does occur further inland in this area however, but mostly on private land. It grows in areas of average to high annual rainfall ranging from 650-700mm in the CVU to 1000mm in the OR/OR/WP. Effective rainfall is increased by the shallow water-tables associated with the creeks which provide adequate moisture to support a rich ground layer of forbs and grasses. Due to a long history of and continuing land clearance and disturbance Damp Sands Herb-rich Woodland carries a high proportion of weed species. In addition, density of the overstorey has been significantly reduced in many areas. The high proportion of weed species is exacerbated by continued disturbance, proximity to farmland and good site quality. The overstorey is dominated by Manna Gum (often rough-barked). In the drier CVU region this grows in association with Scentbark or Candlebark with scattered Black Wattle and Blackwood. In the higher rainfall areas of the Otways it grows in association with Messmate and Swamp Gum. A few scattered shrubs may be present including Coast Beard-heath, Prickly Moses, Sweet Bursaria, Prickly Tea-tree, Tree Everlasting, Small-leaf Bramble, Matted Rice-flower, Coast Pomaderris and Large-leaf Bush-pea. The groundlayer is dominated by a dense layer of Austral Bracken over a diverse layer of forbs, grasses and other graminoids. Common forbs include Bidgee-widgee, Austral Cranesbill, Common Raspwort, Kidney-weed, Yellow Wood-sorrel, Grassland Wood-sorrel, Prickly Starwort and Grass Trigger-plant, Common Lagenifera, Hairy Pennywort, Ivy-leaf Violet, Hairy Speedwell, and Greenhood Orchids. Common graminoids include Weeping Grass, Tall Tussock-grass, Spiny headed Mat-rush and Black-anther Flax-lily. Weeds include Common Centaury, Cat's Ear, Pimpernel and Hare's Tail.

EVCSubGroupNo: 7.1 SubGroupName: Wet

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: There are two forms of Wet Forest in the Otway Ranges (OR). The first is distributed along the Otway Range from the northern section of the Otway National Park and north of the Great Ocean Road to the Beech Forest Water Catchment. It has an extremely high annual rainfall of 1550mm and occurs in gullies or on protected south and south east-facing slopes of the Otway Range. In addition, it may extend out of more sheltered situations and on to ridges due to the protected nature of the topography and high rainfall and low cloud cover. Geology is mostly non-marine, early cretaceous sediments and soils are fertile loams, where slumping and erosion is common. The overstorey is a tall forest dominated by pure stands of Mountain Ash on wetter sites and mixed stands of Mountain Ash with Mountain Grey Gum and Messmate, the latter more frequent at lower altitudes. Blackwood forms a tall secondary tree layer. The shrub layer is well established and is dominated by mesic shrubs including Musk Daisy-bush, Prickly Currant-bush, Austral Mulberry and Blanket-leaf. Sclerophyllous, non-ericoid species, such as Bootlace Bush, Hazel Pomaderris, Banyalla, Satinwood and Privet Mock-olive are also common. There is an abundance and diversity of ferns in all strata as ground ferns, tree ferns or epiphytes. Epiphytic ferns, fern allies and filmy ferns include the vulnerable Beech Finger-fern, Kangaroo Fern, Common Finger-fern, Gypsy Fern, Austral Filmy Fern, Leathery Shield-fern. Ground ferns include Mother Shield-fern, Hard Water-fern and Bat's Wing Fern. Soft Tree-fern is nearly always present, with the rare Slender Tree-fern and Rough Tree-fern sometimes co-occurring. The ground stratum is usually sparse with a high cover of leaf litter. Common forbs include the vulnerable Tall Astelia, Forest Starwort, Tall Sword-sedge and Shade Nettle.

The second form of Wet Forest is more wide spread and is located in the northern section of Otway National Park both south and north of the Great Ocean Road. This form occurs on more exposed northerly slopes and ridges at lower altitudes, averaging 330m asl and average annual rainfall is 1450mm. Geology is of cretaceous sediments and soils are moderate to high in fertility and less moist than the previous form of this EVC. The overstorey is dominated by Mountain Ash over 40m tall. On drier sites this co-dominates with Messmate, Mountain Grey Gum and Victorian Blue Gum. Blackwood often forms a tall secondary tree layer. The understorey is more open and species-rich in shrubs than the previous form and includes Musk Daisy-bush, Snow Daisy-bush, Hazel Pomaderris, Prickly Currant-bush, Satinwood, Privet Mock-olive, Austral Mulberry and Victorian Christmas-bush. Ferns are neither common or abundant. Those that are present include Soft Tree-fern, Kangaroo Fern, Austral Bracken, Hard Water-fern, Bat's Wing Fern and Mother Shield-fern. Other species in the ground stratum are more common and include Forest Starwort, Hop Goodenia, Tall Sword-sedge and Mountain Clematis. Forest Wire-grass has a high cover and often dominates in response to disturbance.

CVU (outside CCMA region) The overstorey is a tall forest dominated by Mountain Ash in the Macedon area with Messmate and Manna Gum while Eurabbie dominates in the Mt Cole and Mt Buangor areas. Under this is a layer of understorey trees/tall shrubs including Blackwood, Silver Wattle, Austral Mulberry and Musk Daisy-bush. The ground is characteristically rich in ferns including Rough Tree-fern, Soft Tree-fern, Austral King-fern, Fishbone Water-fern, Hard Water-fern and often dense Mother Shield-fern. The non-vascular bryophytes (mosses and liverworts) are also an important component of the ground cover interspersed with forbs such as Forest Starwort, Prickly Starwort and the climber Mountain Clematis.

300 Reed Swamp

EVCGroupNo: 19 GroupName: Wetlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 19.1 SubGroupName: Freshwater

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Reed Swamp only occurs in the Lake Connewarre State Game Reserve, south of Geelong, where it covers much of Reedy Lake (OP). It occurs on Quaternary sedimentary geology of mainly estuarine sands. The soils are peaty, silty clays. Reed Swamp requires shallow water (to 1m deep) and low current-scour. It can only tolerate very low levels of salinity. It occupies approximately 5 square kilometres of the centre of Reedy Lake. The more saline margins of the lake support Coastal Saltmarsh Complex (EVC9) and Cane Grass-Lignum Halophytic Herbland (EVC898). Reed Swamp is a closed to open grassland/sedgeland dominated by Common Reed to 2-3m tall. Amongst the Common Reed are more open areas of tall sedges to 2m including Typha orientalis, River Club-sedge and Tall Spike-sedge. Also growing in these less shaded areas are small species such as Swamp Crassula, *Water Buttons and the floating species Pacific Azolla and Common Duckweed.

31 Cool Temperate Rainforest

EVCGroupNo: 10 GroupName: Rainforests

EVCSubGroupNo: 10.1 SubGroupName: Rainforests

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: On the southern fall of the Otway Ranges Cool Temperate Rainforest occurs in steeply dissected gullies and valleys, which represent the wettest and most sheltered niches available. It occupies extensive Riverine terraces. On the northern fall of the Ranges this EVC is restricted to the headwaters of streams near the main divide where rainfall is highest and cloud cover most persistent. Altitudes are low and average annual rainfall is high. Generally soils are deep, well structured, reddish clays and sandy clay loams high in organic content, but on alluvial terraces they are chocolate brown to grey silts and silty clay loams. The overstorey is usually well developed Myrtle Beech to 30m tall. The understorey is dominated by a dense canopy of Soft Tree-fern along with a diversity of understorey trees and tall, mesic shrubs including Prickly Currant-bush, Austral Mulberry, Banyalla, Musk Daisy-bush and Blackwood. The rare Slender Tree-fern and rare Skirted Tree-fern are also commonly present. This EVC is characterized by the diversity and abundance of obligate epiphytes and species that are epiphytic at crucial stages in their life cycle. This includes vascular species (predominantly ferns) and non-vascular species (mosses, liverworts and lichens). The usual epiphytic substrates are the caudexes ('trunk' or stem) of Soft tree-fern and the trunks of Myrtle Beech. Epiphytic ferns are particularly prominent and include Leathery Shield-fern, Kangaroo Fern, Austral Filmy Fern, Shiny Filmy Fern, Common Filmy Fern, Narrow Filmy Fern, Common Finger-fern, Weeping Spleenwort, Mother Spleenwort, the rare Ground Spleenwort and Veined Bristle-fern. The ground stratum is dominated by ground ferns with the occasional forb. Ferns include Mother Shield-fern, Ray Water-fern, Lance Water-fern, Austral Lady-fern and the rare Bristly Shield-fern. Shade Nettle is commonly present. Cool Temperate Rainforest in the Otway Ranges contains a number of Nationally and Statewide listed rare and vulnerable species.

45 Shrubby Foothill Forest

EVCGroupNo: 6 GroupName: Dry Forests
 EVCSUBGroupNo: 6.2 SubGroupName: Sheltered and/or higher altitude
 EVCType: EVC

CCMA

RegDescription: Shrubby Foothill Forest is widespread in the Wombat State Forest and adjacent areas (CVU). It is a drier form of the EVC than that in the Otways region. It occurs on moderately fertile soils derived from Ordovician shale and sandstones at elevations of 500-900m asl. At higher elevations it may occur on all slopes and aspects, while in drier areas it is restricted to sheltered slopes and gullies. Annual rainfall varies from 750-1150mm. This EVC has a long history of intense and repeated logging. The overstorey is a medium forest usually dominated by Messmate, though Broad-leaved Peppermint, Narrow-leaf Peppermint, Candlebark and Mountain Grey Gum may also be present. The mid stratum is low, often structurally open and diverse in narrow-leaved or ericoid shrubs. Species include Narrow-leaf Wattle, Common Heath, Moth Daisy-bush, Mueller's Bush-pea, Golden Bush-pea and Gorse Bitter-pea. The ground layer is sparse and species poor and includes Ivy-leaf Violet and Common Raspwort. Forest Wire-grass and Austral Bracken are common and may dominate the understorey in response to disturbance.

Shrubby Foothill Forest occurs widely in the Otways (OR/OP/WP), on exposed aspects and slight to moderate slopes. It has been identified both close to and remote from the coast, with an average annual rainfall greater than 1100mm. The soils are clay loams over medium to heavy clays. Closer to the coast the clay loams become more shallow over rock. Average altitude is 180m asl. The overstorey is a medium forest dominated by Messmate to 30m tall. Mountain Grey Gum is also common. Occasional other species include Scentbark, Brown Stringybark, the rare Brooker's Gum, Blue Gum, Swamp Gum, Narrow-leaf Peppermint, Mountain Ash and Manna Gum. There is no understorey tree layer. A diverse shrub layer characterizes this EVC. The most common species include Hop Goodenia, Prickly Moses, Snow Daisy-bush, Prickly Currant-bush, Narrow-leaf Wattle, Privet Mock-olive, Tree everlasting, Prickly Tea-tree, Hazel Pomaderris and Large-leaf Bush-pea. The ground stratum lacks diversity and is often dominated by Austral Bracken and Forest Wire-grass (especially in response to disturbance). Other species include Tall Sword-sedge, the rare Cluster-headed Mat-rush, the vulnerable Swamp Flax-lily and Ivy-leaf Violet. Mountain Clematis is the only climber.

RegDescription: Valley Grassy Forest generally occurs in small strips scattered across the drier sections of the CVU bioregion. It usually grows on quaternary alluvium deposited on valley floors which may be totally dry or carry intermittent streams. The overstorey may carry a variety of eucalypts, usually species which prefer more moist or more fertile conditions as compared to the species in surrounding habitats. Most common are Messmate, Narrow-leaf Peppermint and Candlebark. Apart from scattered Black Wattle and Silver Wattle the shrub layer is virtually non-existent. The ground is usually covered in a dense grassy sward with a high diversity of both grasses and forbs. Dominant species vary depending on moisture levels. The most common dominant species are Weeping Grass, Tall Tussock-grass, and Grey Tussock-grass. Other grasses usually present are *Sweet Vernal-grass, Silvertop Wallaby-grass, Five-awned Spear-grass, Common Wheat-grass, Plume grasses and Wallaby grasses. Forbs include Blue Pincushion, Ivy-leaf Violet, Kidney-weed, Common Lagenifera, Austral Bugle, Chocolate-lily and Austral Bracken.
 Valley Grassy Forest usually occurs adjacent to dry forests such as Grassy Dry Forest and Heathy Dry Forest.

48 Heathy Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 2 GroupName: Heathy Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 2.1 SubGroupName: Dry and/or better drained

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Heathy Woodland is recorded in all five bioregions.

Two forms of Heathy Woodland have been identified within the Otways (OR/OP/WP).

The first is the most widespread, occurring from sites near Port Campbell and Lower Gellibrand along the tertiary sand belt and in the Eastern View to Anglesea area. The overstorey is dominated by Brown Stringybark, Narrow-leaf Peppermint, Messmate and Shining Peppermint. The shrub stratum is diverse and includes Prickly Tea-tree, Common Heath, Narrow-leaf Wattle, Prickly Geebung, Common Beard-heath, Silver Banksia, Pink Bells, Smooth Parrot-pea, Western Furze Hakea, Common Aotus and Slender Rice-flower. Species in the ground stratum include Austral Grass-tree, Tassel Rope-rush, Spreading Rope-rush, Spiny-headed Mat-rush and Swamp Selaginella.

The second form of Heathy Woodland in the Otways study area occurs on late Tertiary sediments between Eastern View and Point Addis of Anglesea. Average annual rainfall is 550-700mm. Distinguishing features of this form of Heathy Woodland are its relatively high species richness and the frequency of tussock forming species compared with the previous form. Common overstorey species are Messmate, Brown Stringybark and Scentbark. The diverse shrub layer includes Silver Banksia, Common Flat-pea, Common Heath, Honey-pots, Prickly Tea-tree, Heath Tea-tree, Erect Guinea Flower, Prickly Geebung, Pink-bells, Common Beard-heath, Dwarf Wedge-pea, Myrtle Wattle, Common Rice-flower, Smooth Parrot-pea and Leafless Globe-pea. Common species in the ground stratum include Thatch Saw-sedge, Bent Goodenia, Wattle Mat-rush, Blue Squill, Wire Rapier-sedge, Variable Stinkweed, Heath Xanthosia, Screw fern, Button Everlasting and Hidden Violet. Other common species include Austral Grass-tree, Tassel Rope-rush, Common Rapier-sedge, Tall Sundew and Milkmaids.

Floristic Community 48-12 Steiglitz Heathy Woodland (CVU)

Steiglitz Heathy Woodland occurs on a tiny patch of Tertiary clays in the Steiglitz Historic Park. Altitude is 340m asl and average annual rainfall is 650mm. The overstorey consists of Red Stringybark over an open understorey of Austral Grass-tree, Dusty Miller, Heath Tea-tree, Dwarf Geebung and Golden Grevillea. The groundlayer is sparse and includes Sundew, Button Everlasting and Wallaby-grasses.

Floristic Community 48-13 Midlands Heathy Woodland (CVU/VP)

Midlands Heathy Woodland occurs on narrow Tertiary cappings on ridgetops in the Wombat and Pyrete State Forests. Soils are a very fine white clay. Altitudes in the Wombat State Forest are 600-830m asl and average annual rainfall is 900-1100mm. In the Pyrete State Forest altitude is 400-500m asl and average annual rainfall is 700mm. The overstorey is dominated by Broad-leaf Peppermint, which, in the Pyrete State Forest, may be only two or three metres tall. The understorey may be dense or sparse and includes Dagger Wattle, Bushy Hakea, Prickly Tea-tree, Rosy Baeckea, Silver Banksia, Bundled Guinea-flower, Common Rapier-sedge and Curly-wig.

Floristic Community 48-09 Sand Heathy Woodland

Sand Heathy Woodland has been identified adjacent to the northwest corner of the Langi Ghiran State Park (outside region). Soils are granitic-outwash sands. Altitude is 360-420m asl and average annual rainfall is around 650mm. The overstorey is very sparse and dominated by Long-leaf Box with tree form Silver Banksia and Black Sheoke. The understorey is dense and dominated by Small Grass-tree and Heath Tea-tree with Daphne Heath, Fringed Brachyloma, Horny Cone-bush and Wire Rapier-sedge. The groundlayer is sparse with scattered herbs and several tiny sedges including Pointed Centrolepis, Hairy Centrolepis, Common Bog-sedge and Tiny Bog-sedge.

Floristic Community 48-11 Western Goldfields Heathy Woodland

Western Goldfields Heathy Woodland has been identified in three tiny blocks of public land near Stawell and Amphitheatre (outside region). Soils are Tertiary sands/clays which have been locally altered to form quartzite gravel. Altitudes are 300-340m asl and average annual rainfall is between 500-600mm. The overstorey is dominated by small, spreading Long-leaf Box with some Red Stringy bark. The lower strata include a shrub layer dominated by a dense cover of low heathy shrubs over scattered herbs and grasses in the ground stratum. Common species include Flame Heath, Cranberry Heath, Daphne Heath, Black-anther Flax-lily, Cat's Claws Grevillea, Heath Tea-tree, Common Bog-sedge, Pointed Centrolepis and Wallaby-grasses.

53 Swamp Scrub

EVCGroupNo: 8 GroupName: Riparian Scrubs or Swampy Shrubs & Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 8.1 SubGroupName: Riparian Scrubs or Swampy Shrubs & Woodlands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Swamp Scrub occurs close to the coast in VP/OP/WP and has affinities with Shallow Freshwater Marsh (EVC200). Both occupy similar swamp habitats, however Swamp Scrub occurs on slight rises where the soil is deeper and better drained. This EVC lacks an overstorey and is dominated by tall Woolly Tea-tree which forms dense impenetrable thickets, out-competing other species. Coast Saw-sedge and Common Reed are also common.

55 Plains Grassy Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 14 GroupName: Plains Grassy Woodlands or Forests

EVCSubGroupNo: 14.1 SubGroupName: Freely-draining

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Plains Grassy Woodland was once widespread in the vicinity of the volcanic plains (VP/CVU/OP), in some areas growing in association with Plains Grassland. Due to a long history of grazing and clearing for agriculture the majority of this EVC has disappeared and that which is left is often severely degraded. Of the areas remaining on public land the largest is around the Upper Stoney Creek Reservoirs, mainly on land managed by Barwon Water though some occurs in the adjacent Brisbane Ranges National Park. Other areas include the Dolly Creek State Forest, Bannockburn and Inverleigh Commons and a very small patch in the Langi Ghiran State Park. There is great variation within these areas and it is likely that several different floristic communities exist. However, due to the paucity of sampling of intact remnants, distinctions at the floristic community level have not been made. All sites are virtually flat, altitudes range from 350 to 380m asl except in the Bannockburn and Inverleigh areas which are 90 to 100m asl and annual rainfall is approximately 650mm. Soils are generally fertile, most sites occurring on Tertiary sands and clays though soils of the Inverleigh Common are Aeolian sands and the Langi Ghiran State Park example is on granitic-outwash soils.

Tree density within the areas mapped varies from almost forest to very open woodland. Dominance within the overstorey varies with soil moisture which is related to the proportions of sand and clay within the soil. Fire and management history may also influence overstorey structure and species composition. Dominant species within this EVC may include Yellow Gum, Swamp Gum, Yellow Box or Manna Gum with Silver Banksia (tree form), Black She-oak, Blackwood and Black Wattle. There is no shrub layer apart from localised thickets of Hedge Wattle in the Bannockburn and Inverleigh areas. The ground layer is very species rich with a mixture of low ericoid shrubs, such as Peach Heath, Cranberry Heath and Honey-pots, and a diversity of lilies, forbs and grasses. Common species include Yellow Rush-lily, Milkmaids, Running Postman, Common Rice-flower, Creeping Bossiaea, Wiry Buttons, Scaly Buttons, Kidney-weed, Sundew, Spear-grasses, Wallaby-grasses, Reed Bent-grass, Weeping Grass and Kangaroo Grass (the latter often dominating). In some areas there are dense patches of Black-anther Flax-lily and Variable Sword-sedge.

Riverina Plains Grassy Woodland

Riverina Plains Grassy Woodland occurs on the western plains near Melton mainly on basalt plains in addition to some Quaternary colluvial deposits. Altitude ranges from 120-300m asl, rainfall is a low 500-550mm per annum. Riverina Plains Grassy Woodland is an open woodland of Grey Box with scattered stands of Buloke and Drooping Sheoak. Extant remnants have few if any shrubs, however it is thought that this community may have been of a shrubby nature prior to European settlement. Shrubs recorded include Gold-dust Wattle, Golden Wattle, Bacchus Marsh Sticky Wattle, Sweet Bursaria, Tree Violet, Drooping Cassinia and Turkey Bush. The grassy understorey is dominated by Wallaby-grasses and Spear Grasses including Common Wallaby-grass, Bristly Wallaby-grass, Stiped Wallaby-grass and Spear-grasses including Rough Spear-grass and Kneed Spear-grass. Other common grasses include Windmill Grass, Red-leg Grass, Common Wheat-grass and Grey Tussock-grass. Chenopods such as Nodding Saltbush, Wingless Bluebush and Ruby Saltbush are also common along with Kidney-weed, Black-anther Flax-lily and Small-leaved Clematis. The best remnants of Riverina Plains Grassy Woodland in the Midlands and Otways study area are on the Eynesbury Estate south of Melton on private land and not accessible to the public. Some remnants persist on roadsides in the Balliang area just outside the region.

56 Floodplain Riparian Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 15 GroupName: Riverine Grassy Woodlands or Forests

EVCSUBGroupNo: 15.2 SubGroupName: Creekline and/or swampy

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Floodplain Riparian Woodland occurs along major slow-moving rivers and creeks where they meander across the plains (VP/CVU). Floodplain Riparian Woodland is found along the Barwon River and the lower reaches of the Leigh, Moorabool and Werribee Rivers and the Sutherland and Thompson Creeks. Existing remnants are at least partly degraded. It covers the lowest, most frequently flooded terraces and generally encompasses a network of former channels and intermittent and permanent wetlands. Species composition and positioning within the EVC depends on the frequency of flooding and length of inundation of each area. Due to high levels of disturbance (natural and man-made), soil fertility, abundance of water and general accessibility and proximity to arable lands, few intact remnants of Floodplain Riparian Woodland remain and where they do occur, weeds are a dominant feature. The overstorey is a tall woodland dominated by Red Gum with occasional Manna Gum and Swamp Gum. The shrub stratum is patchy and includes Silver Wattle, Black Wattle, Tree Violet, River Bottlebrush, and Woolly Tea-tree. The ground layer is dominated by Common Tussock-grass on the drier elevated areas, with Common Reed, Tall Sedge, Rushes, Spike Sedges and Water-ribbons on inundated soils beside rivers. Herbs range from dryland herbs on the banks to aquatics in the river and wetland areas.

6 Sand Heathland

EVCGroupNo: 17 GroupName: Heathlands
 EVSubGroupNo: 17.1 SubGroupName: Sandy and/or well-drained
 EVCType: EVC

CCMA

RegDescription: Within the CVU Sand Heathland is restricted to very small areas surrounded by Lowland Forest in the Brisbane Ranges National Park. It grows on flat to gently undulating topography, at altitudes of 290-340m asl and has an average annual rainfall of approximately 700mm. Soils are Tertiary sands over an impervious clay layer which are periodically very dry or waterlogged. Due to these conditions, the tree layer is often absent. When present, the overstorey carries sparse and spindly Messmate. The shrub layer is very dense to 2m high and is dominated by Heath Tea-tree, Prickly Tea-tree, Silver Banksia, Common Aotus and Red-fruit Saw-sedge. The ground layer is sparse and includes Blue Squill, Milk-maids and Sundew.

Deep, siliceous sands of low fertility, usually close to the coast (OP), carry Sand Heathland, which typically has no tree layer. The dense shrub layer commonly includes Prickly Tea-tree, Heath Tea-tree, Silver Banksia and Common Heath. The ground layer features Thatch Saw-sedge and Austral Grass-tree. Where present, the tree layer comprises scattered Coast Manna Gum, and Narrow-leaf Peppermint (to confirm in CCMA).

61 Box Ironbark Forest

EVCGroupNo: 4 GroupName: Box Ironbark Forests or dry / lower fertility Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 4.1 SubGroupName: Box Ironbark Forests or dry / lower fertility Woodlands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Box-Ironbark Forest covers large areas across north central Victoria, however it is very limited in the region (CVU/VP). Two floristic communities have been identified. Generally, this EVC is an open forest over sparse but often diverse lower strata. It occurs on low, gently undulating hills or the lower slopes of larger hills and ranges. Annual average rainfall is low. Soils are derived from Ordovician shale and sandstones and are infertile with a low water-holding capacity. Potentially occurs at Mt Erip, a significant outlier community and in the Brisbane Ranges but has not been mapped as such (mapped as EVC20 and EVC16 respectively). Extensive in the Werribee State Park at Ingliston just outside the region

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Victorian Volcanic Plain Riparian Woodland

Red Gum Woodland 10 to 30m in height over Tall Tussock grass dominated understorey beside permanent streams. It typically occurs on narrow alluvial deposits. Tall shrubs may be present and amphibious herbs may occur in occasional ponds and beside creeks. While flooding may be common, sites are rarely inundated for lengthy periods. High volume seasonal flows may be common. Formerly widespread along major creeks and rivers on the plains, now greatly reduced in area due to clearing for agriculture. Remnant areas are subject to high levels of disturbance from grazing, timber cutting, recreational vehicles and weed invasion. Recorded from the VP bioregion.

647 Plains Sedgy Wetland

EVCGroupNo: 19 GroupName: Wetlands

EVSubGroupNo: 19.1 SubGroupName: Freshwater

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Primarily sedgy-herbaceous vegetation of ephemeral to seasonal wetlands on fertile soils of volcanic and sedimentary plains (VP/CVU), sometimes with scattered or fringing eucalypts or tea-tree in higher rainfall areas. A range of aquatic herbs can be present, and species-richness is mostly relatively low to moderate, but higher towards drier margins. Occurs in seasonally wet depressions on plains, typically associated with silty peaty or heavy clay paludal soils. Plains Sedgy Wetland typically occurs in sites of most sustained and deeper inundation than Plains Grassy Wetland. Previously widespread and relatively common in restricted suitable habitat, but now largely cleared and remnants mostly under threat. Dominated by sedges including: Twig-sedges, Round Sedge and Common Spike-sedge, and herbs such as Running Marsh-flower, Floating Club-sedge, Swamp Starwort, Milfoils, White Purslane, Water Ribbons and Centella. Except on ephemerally wet fringes, grasses are a relatively minor component, the major species being Blown Grass and Swamp Wallaby-grasses. Sedgeland, open-sedgeland or herbland (height ranging from mostly shortly emergent herbland to sedgeland 0.3–1m tall).

653 Aquatic Herbland

EVCGroupNo: 19 GroupName: Wetlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 19.1 SubGroupName: Freshwater

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Herbland of permanent to semi-permanent wetlands. Deeper, more continuously inundated wetlands, with heavy clay soils beneath organic layers dominated by sedges (especially on shallower verges) and/or aquatic herbs. Occurs on fertile paludal soils, typically heavy clays beneath organic accumulations. Previously widespread within restricted areas of suitable habitat across the study area but now greatly reduced through draining and use for agriculture. Recorded from VP bioregion. Dominated by Tall Spike-sedge, Water Ribbons and Milfoils, sometimes with other aquatics such as Floating Pondweed and the conspicuous Running Marsh-flower. Sedgeland or herbland, with submerged and floating to (mostly less than 0.5 m) emergent aquatic species. Reasonably resilient flora capable of invading suitable artificial water bodies such as larger farm dams on the volcanic plain.

67 Alluvial Terraces Herb-rich Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 16 GroupName: Herb-rich Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 16.1 SubGroupName: Alluvial terraces and/or creeklines

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Alluvial Terraces Herb-rich Woodland occurs in the north-west (e.g. in the Pyrenees Ranges, Waterloo and Dunneworthy State Forests and the Langi Ghiran State Park). It grows on low-lying alluvial terraces and plains and has been extensively cleared across its range, now only occurring in small pockets around the edges of public land. Soils are relatively fertile and have a higher water-holding capacity than the surrounding low hills. Within this EVC the overstorey is of tall woodland trees, mainly Yellow Box with Candlebark, River Red Gum, Red Box and Blue Gum also occurring occasionally. There is no shrub layer, and the ground layer is diverse in forbs, lilies and grasses including many annuals. In dry seasons, the ground may appear very bare, many species retreating to rootstocks or existing as soil-stored weed. Common species include Scaly Buttons, Solenogyne, Yellow Rush-lily, Chocolate Lily, Yam-daisy, Common Bog-sedge, Common Wheat-grass and Wallaby-grasses. Most areas of Alluvial Terraces Herb-rich Woodland have suffered a severe history of disturbance, from mining, grazing and timber cutting. As a consequence weeds are common, particularly annual grasses. Mapped in CCMA region but no extant sites currently known (recorded for Haddon Common but is more likely to be EVC3)

677 Inland Saltmarsh

EVCGroupNo: 20 GroupName: Salt-tolerant and/or succulent Shrublands

EVCSUBGroupNo: 20.2 SubGroupName: Inland

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Low open-shrubland, herbland or grassland, mostly less than 0.5 m in height. Usually dominated by Black-seeded Samphire and/or Beaded Glasswort, with Creeping Brookweed, Australian Salt Grass and Saltmarsh Grass as common conspicuous associates or locally dominant/co-dominant. Occurs on salinised heavy grey clay soils in seasonally or intermittently waterlogged shallow depressions. Not recorded for CCMA but would seem to fit the shorelines of inland salt lakes such as Lake Corangamite, not differentiated in the mapping scale from Plains Grassy Woodland and Plains Grassland.

68 Creekline Grassy Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 15 GroupName: Riverine Grassy Woodlands or Forests

EVSubGroupNo: 15.2 SubGroupName: Creekline and/or swampy

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Creekline Grassy Woodland has been mapped across northern Victoria on minor creeks and tributaries on the lower slopes of the foothills and on small, intermittent creeks on the plains. This EVC was modeled in the driest areas, in the far north-west from Beaufort to Stawell and south of the Great Dividing Range on the drier plains, particularly just west of Melbourne and Geelong. Soils are usually Quaternary stream alluvials. Few relatively intact remnants exist in the CVU/VP. The overstorey is dominated by Red Gum with a scattered shrub layer of Black Wattle, Blackwood and Sweet Bursaria. The ground layer is dense with grasses and sedges, most commonly Tall Tussock-grass, Weeping Grass, Kangaroo Grass, Common Wheat-grass, Common Blown-grass, Tall Sedge and Rushes.

71 Hills Herb-rich Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 5 GroupName: Lower Slopes or Hills Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 5.3 SubGroupName: Herb-rich

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Occurs in CVU/VP but no extant sites known in CCMA region (TBA).

Floristic Community 71-01 Granitic Hills Herb-rich Woodland

Granitic Hills Herb-rich Woodland is uncommon and is typically found at the boundaries of blocks of public land such as Mt Buangor State Park, Langi Ghiran State Park, Mt Cole State Forest, Mt Lonarch State Forest and Ben Major Forest Reserve on fertile granodiorite and granodiorite-derived soils. The most extensive intact example within the study area is in Mt Beckworth State Forest where it occupies most of the park. The overstorey is a woodland of large eucalypts, usually Yellow Box. Shrubs and understorey trees are sparse with Black Wattle and Cherry Ballart. On the outwash slopes to the west of Mount Langi Ghiran this floristic community grows on soils which appear less fertile and are more often waterlogged than those of steeper slopes elsewhere. Here the low tree layer is missing, and tall shrubs such as Hedge Wattle and Varnish Wattle may be present, rarely forming dense stands. The ground layer is rich in grasses and forbs such as Wallaby-grasses, Kidney-weed, Austral Bugle, Austral Bear's-ears and Green Rock Fern. Low ericoid shrubs such as Cranberry Heath and Peach Heath are also common. Due to the fertile nature of the soils and disturbance by grazing (rabbits and marsupials) weeds are common, particularly annual grasses.

72 Granitic Hills Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 4 GroupName: Box Ironbark Forests or dry / lower fertility Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 4.1 SubGroupName: Box Ironbark Forests or dry / lower fertility Woodlands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Granitic Hills Woodland is restricted in the region to the You Yangs Regional Park where it occurs on steep granite hills and rocky outcrops (CVU). Average annual rainfall is low and effective rainfall even lower due to the steep slopes and shallow free-draining soils. The overstorey varies from sparse, to almost forest-like, depending on soil depth and the availability of deep cracks for root growth. Red Stringybark dominates although Yellow Gum, Red Ironbark and Yellow Box may also occur. The shrub layer is usually dense where there is enough soil (unless there are large slabs of exposed rock which lacks enough soil for establishment of root systems). Common shrubs include Snowy Mint-bush, Hedge Wattle, Lightwood, Sticky Hop-bush, Shiny Cassinia and the weed *Boneseed. Among the rocks are grasses and forbs such as Kangaroo Grass, Fibrous Spear-grass, Weeping Grass, Black-anther Flax-lily, Small-leaved Clematis, Yellow Rush-lily and Narrow Rock-fern.

74 Wetland Formation

EVCGroupNo: 19 GroupName: Wetlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 19.1 SubGroupName: Freshwater

CCMA

EVCType: veg group

RegDescription: Wetland Formation is a broad, under-sampled group occurring throughout the study area. Wetland vegetation is often severely degraded and weed-invaded having suffered a history of disturbance including alteration of drainage patterns such as up-stream damming for water storage or draining and clearing for agriculture or grazing. This formation includes generally herbaceous wetland vegetation in ephemeral and permanent water bodies. On the volcanic plain EVCs present may include EVC 125 Plains Grassy Wetland, EVC 136 Sedge Wetland, EVC 647 Plains Sedgy Wetland, EVC 653 Aquatic Herbland, EVC 647 Plains Sedgy Wetland and areas of open fresh or saline water. In areas of lower rainfall EVCs present may include EVC 104 Lignum Wetland, EVC 291 Cane-grass Wetland and EVC 292 Red Gum Wetland. These EVCs are individually described in other sections of this text.

8 Wet Heathland

EVCGroupNo: 17 GroupName: Heathlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 17.2 SubGroupName: Not well-drained

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Wet Heathland, occurs within the Otways (OR/OP/WP/VP), predominantly on flats and depressions with impeded drainage within Carlisle State Park, on Hanson Plain and on the coastal plains of the Otways National Park. The soils have varying depths of tertiary sandy loams, layered over clay loams. The clay layer impedes further drainage, creating an organic soil of low fertility. Such drainage lines are frequent in Carlisle State Park and Hanson Plain, north of the Otway Range. Wet Heathland is most often treeless but Brown Stringybark, Shining Peppermint and Swamp Gum, may occur as sparse, short (less than 20m tall) and scattered individuals. The shrub layer is characterized by two shorter layers. The taller one is 1-2m tall and consists of a sometimes patchy and relatively dense thicket of shrubs including Prickly Tea-tree, Scrub She-oak, Scented Paperbark, Smooth Parrot-pea and Silver Banksia (shrub form). The lower shrub stratum is characterized by epacrids including Pink Swamp-heath, Woolly-style Heath and Common Heath. The climbers and scramblers Slender Dodder-laurel and Spreading Rope-rush are usually present below and within this stratum. Wiry Bauera and Pouched Coral-fern are also present. Dense Button Grass dominates the groundlayer and is characteristic of this EVC. Other tussock forming species include Tall Yellow-eye, Austral Grass-tree and Red-fruit Saw-sedge. Due to the low fertility of the soil and dense understorey, there are few groundcovers, with the exception of Swamp Selaginella and Screw Fern which may form in patches. Weeds are uncommon due to a lack of disturbance and the infertile, wet soils.

EVCGroupNo: 8 GroupName: Riparian Scrubs or Swampy Shrubs & Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 8.1 SubGroupName: Riparian Scrubs or Swampy Shrubs & Woodlands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Swampy Riparian Woodland occurs on recent alluvial flats (CVU/VP/OP). The area is flooded regularly and is nearly always wet even when the river is not flowing. Swampy Riparian Woodland consists of a very open to virtually absent canopy of Swamp Gum and Manna Gum. The shrub layer is also very sparse with scattered Blackwood, Silver Wattle, Hazel Pomaderis, Prickly Currant-bush and the occasional Rough Tree-fern and Soft Tree-fern. The ground layer is dense, dominated by Fishbone Water-fern. Other common species include Mother Shield-fern, Leafy Flat-sedge, Tall Sedge and Hard Water-fern. Patches between the ferns support herbs such as Bidgee-widgee, Kidney-weed, Hairy Pennywort and Austral Brooklime.

851 Stream-bank Shrubland

EVCGroupNo: 8 GroupName: Riparian Scrubs or Swampy Shrubs & Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 8.1 SubGroupName: Riparian Scrubs or Swampy Shrubs & Woodlands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Stream-bank Shrubland is recorded for the CVU/VP. It occurs on the Moorabool River (e.g. at the Meredith-Steiglitz Road crossing) and along the gorge sections of the Werribee and Lerderberg Rivers. Stream-bank Shrubland can also be found along the Yarrowee-Leigh River, particularly between Mt Mercer and Shelford and on Woodbourne Creek, Bamganie where it exhibits some distinct forms. Further examples can be found along the Woody Yaloak River, primarily between Devils Kitchen and Happy Valley Crossing. It occurs on basalt geology or sediments where the watercourse has cut into the underlying rock producing rocky banks, a flat rocky stream bed and in the larger rivers, quite broad gravel banks which are often dry but are also regularly flooded by fast flowing waters. Where watercourses cut deeply into basalt, the upper banks (beyond the reach of floodwaters) often support Basalt Escarpment Shrubland (EVC895). Basalt Escarpment Shrubland can also be found along the above mentioned streams abutting the Streambank Shrubland in the 'Gorge' sections of those streams. Where they cut deeply into sediments as in the Werribee and Lerderberg Gorges, the upper banks often support Midlands Escarpments Shrubby Dry Forest. The overstorey is generally sparse, usually consisting of Manna Gum (above 260m) or Red Gum (below 260m) with Swamp Gum on occasional soaks such as where springs meet the river. The shrubs layer is the dominant stratum and includes Woolly Tea-tree and River Bottlebrush amongst the rocks on the stream bed, and Sweet Bursaria, Tree Violet, Shiny Cassinia and Hop Goodenia occupying the stream banks. Other common species among the rocks and gravel on the stream bed are Bidgee-widgee, Willow-herbs, Tall Tussock-grass and Spiny-headed Mat-rush. A number of weeds occupy the flood disturbance zone. The more serious ones being Willows, Hemlock, Fennel, Gorse, Bridal Creeper, Blackberry and on the Moorabool River, Blue Periwinkle. The latter has smothered much of the groundlayer and forms a complete carpet below the Meredith-Steiglitz Road. This may be near impossible to control as it is resistant to sprays and any work will remove the remnants and directly contribute to further domination by the weed. Weeds especially Bridal Creeper and Willow are being targeted within the Leigh River gorge by the CCMA in recognition of the threat they pose to this remarkably intact Streambank Shrubland.

858 Calcarenite Dune Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 1 GroupName: Coastal Scrubs Grasslands & Woodlands

EVSubGroupNo: 1.1 SubGroupName: Coastal Scrubs Grasslands & Woodlands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Calcarenite Dune Woodland is restricted to coastal and near coastal areas from Torquay to Altona Bay (OP). It commonly occurs on the landward side of primary dunes and adjacent to Coastal Saltmarsh Complex in estuarine environments. It occurs on a variety of geologies and soil types. Annual rainfall is low. The overstorey is a dense woodland of Moonah (Coast Tea-tree at Barwon Heads) over a shrub layer including Wirilda, Coast Beard-heath, and Thyme Rice-flower and a sparse understorey of Blue Tussock-grass, Bower Spinach, Seaberry Saltbush and Small-leaved Clematis.

863 Floodplain Reedbed

EVCGroupNo: 15 GroupName: Riverine Grassy Woodlands or Forests

EVCSubGroupNo: 15.2 SubGroupName: Creekline and/or swampy CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Floodplain Reedbed was identified in Craven, Costin and Hordern Lakes which are on the broad swampy flats of the lower reaches of the Aire River (OP). It occurs in the slightly deeper areas of inundation on these flats. The remainder of the flats were mapped as Swamp Scrub (EVC53). Soils are Quaternary swamp and lagoonal deposits of clays, silts and peat. Altitude is just above sea level. Floodplain Reedbed is dominated by a dense sward of Common Reed to 2m tall. Other species recorded include Sea Rush, Creeping Monkey-flower, *Water Buttons, Australian Gipsywort and Water-ribbons.

891 Plains Brackish Sedge Wetland

EVCGroupNo: 19 GroupName: Wetlands
 EVCSUBGroupNo: 19.2 SubGroupName: Brackish / estuarine
 EVCType: EVC

CCMA

RegDescription: Plains Brackish Sedge Wetland has only been identified in the Lake Connewarre area south of Geelong (OP). It occurs on flat to very gently sloping terrain in a strip around the southern edge of Reedy Lake. The width of this strip varies from a few meters to over 100m and is dependant on the degree of slope into the lake. This EVC appears to be very site-specific as it does not occur around the slightly more saline shores of nearby Lake Connewarre. The Quaternary Aeolian geology mainly consists of estuarine sands. Plains Brackish Sedge Wetland grows in association with Reed Swamp, Plains Freshwater Sedge Wetland and Coastal Saltmarsh Complex. It is a closed sedgeland to 80 cm tall dominant by Sharp Club-sedge, Creeping Cotula and River Buttercup. Swamp Crassula and Common Spike-sedge are less common.

Notes: not found appears to be just north of lake. Use individual species photos instead of EVC photo

894 Scoria Cone Woodland

EVCGroupNo: 5 GroupName: Lower Slopes or Hills Woodlands

EVCSubGroupNo: 5.2 SubGroupName: Grassy

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Scoria Cone Woodland is typically Manna Gum woodland or open-shrubland (to 15 m, mostly considerably less) with Blackwood and Sweet Bursaria with a Tall Tussock-grass to Bracken-dominated groundlayer. A range of herbs are conspicuous in the groundlayer. Occurs on the slopes of freely-draining scoria cones, but confined to spatter areas (more consolidated finer particles on cone slopes). On more coarse boulder-forming flow sources it is otherwise replaced by Stony Rises Herb-rich Woodland (EVC203). Soils can be skeletal but are very fertile. Previously a localised and restricted habitat, now almost entirely cleared. Recorded from one bioregion within study area (VP). Key species include Blackwood, Sweet Bursaria. Trees and larger shrubs may be stunted by harsh conditions and high water stress. Difficult to differentiate from Stony Rises Herb-rich Woodland (EVC203) as few, if any, intact sites remain.

895 Basalt Escarpment Shrubland

EVCGroupNo: 14 GroupName: Plains Grassy Woodlands or Forests

EVCSubGroupNo: 14.1 SubGroupName: Freely-draining

CCMA

EVCType: FC

RegDescription: Basalt Escarpment Shrubland occurs on escarpments associated with the edges of basalt flows or where watercourses have cut through a basalt capping (VP). It occurs in lower rainfall areas or where effective rainfall is low, for example steep west-facing escarpments. Species present varies depending on soil and water availability, cover is often sparse. Common shrubs include Tree Violet, Golden Wattle, Varnish Wattle, Lightwood, Hedge Wattle, Sweet Bursaria and Sticky Hop-Bush. Turkey-bush, Snowy Mint-bush, Hop Goodenia and Fragrant Saltbush can be locally common. Occasionally Drooping She-oak dominates, sometimes forming a line along the escarpment at a certain elevation. Eucalypts are usually absent (Redgums occur below along the river, and occasionally in the Plains Grassy Woodland above the drier escarpment, which effectively splits the communities). Candlebark is sometimes present on the upper edge of the escarpment (e.g. Moorabool River). The groundlayer is sparse consisting of low chenopods such as Ruby Saltbush, Nodding and Saloop saltbushes with Native Tobacco, Angled Pigface, Plume, Wallaby and Spear grasses. The most exposed/driest sites may contain White Cypress Pine, Desert Cassia, Turkey-bush and Emu Bush. The greatest development of this EVC can be found in the Bamganie Gorge of the Leigh River and the Moorabool River (below the Meredith-Steiglitz Road) respectively. The Woody Yaloak River between Devils Kitchen and Happy Valley Crossing contains a less developed but remarkably intact form of this EVC.

RegDescription: Victorian Volcanic Plain Plains Grassland/Plains Grassy Woodland Complex - generally areas are mapped as such where there is a lack of evidence to determine the pre-1750 tree density
Open woodland, shrubland or tussock grassland, dominated by perennial grasses with a wide range of inter-tussock herbs and geophytes. On mainly heavy fertile basalt-derived soils on VP. Previously locally extensive within drier parts of the volcanic plain, but now virtually totally cleared and mostly confined to modified roadside remnants. Sparse Swamp Gum or Redgum woodland with Blackwood, Black Wattle, Lightwood, Drooping Sheoak, Silver Banksia (Tree form). The groundlayer is dominated by tussock grasses (variously Themeda, Wallaby, Spear, Poa dependent on site conditions), with a diverse range of geophytes and dicot herbs in inter-tussock spaces. Various open-woodland 3–12 m high, shrubland 1–3 m high, or tussock grassland generally less than 0.8 metres high. Mostly on heavy loam to clay loam/clay soils on lower rainfall areas of basalt plain, sometimes seasonally waterlogged or retaining water in small shallow Gilgai depressions.

898 Cane Grass-Lignum Halophyllic Herbland

EVCGroupNo: 1 GroupName: Coastal Scrubs Grasslands & Woodlands

EVSubGroupNo: 1.1 SubGroupName: Coastal Scrubs Grasslands & Woodlands

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Cane Grass-Lignum Halophyllic Herbland is restricted to the Lake Connewarre area south of Geelong (OP). It occurs within shallow depressions on otherwise flat terrain, surrounded by Coastal Saltmarsh Complex and Plains Grassland. The geology is Quaternary sedimentary estuarine sands. The soils are silty clays, subject to periodic freshwater flooding from the nearby Barwon River. This EVC has been identified in two small areas, to the south of Reedy Lake in the Lake Connewarre State Game Reserve and on the west bank of the Barwon River, south west of Geelong. Cane Grass-Lignum Halophytic Herbland is a shrubland dominated by Tangled Lignum, though in slightly better drained areas the Lignum is sparse and Common Tussock Grass dominates. The ground layer is dominated by sedges, with Common Spike-sedge prominent at the wetter sites and Sharp Club-sedge in more brackish situations.

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Plains Freshwater Sedge Wetland is confined to the Lake Connewarre area south of Geelong (OP). It grows in association with Plains Grassland, Plains Brackish Sedge Wetland and Coastal Saltmarsh Complex. It occurs on quaternary sedimentary geology, consisting mainly of estuarine sands. The soils are peaty silty clays. Plains freshwater sedge wetland is an open to closed sedgeland, reaching heights of 1m. The dominant species are Common Spike-sedge, Common Blown Grass and the weed, *Curled Dock with Swamp Crassula and Water-ribbons sub dominant.

9 Coastal Saltmarsh

EVCGroupNo: 20 GroupName: Salt-tolerant and/or succulent Shrublands

EVCSubGroupNo: 20.1 SubGroupName: Coastal

CCMA

EVCType: EVC

RegDescription: Coastal salt-marsh is a broad vegetation community that contains distinct floristic communities as bands or zones in the same location, although not all are necessarily present. It occurs on and immediately above marine and estuarine tidal flats (VP/OP at coast). The main factor affecting the vegetation, and to some extent determining the positioning of the various floristic communities, is the saline environment.

1. White Mangrove, which forms a distinctive scrub, dominates the most seaward band, where present (see EVC140). A variety of marine and estuarine algae may be associated with it.
2. In the littoral salt-marsh, Beaded Glasswort forms a herbfield on the landward side of mangrove. This succulent herb may occur in pure stands, or in association with Austral Seablite and Creeping Brookweed. It appears to be well-adapted to the saline conditions, shifting substrate, and the volume of seagrass and seaweed detritus that accumulates at the high-tide level.
3. Shrubby glasswort dominates a low shrubland on the landward side of the littoral salt-marsh zone. It, too, may occur in pure stands or with some or all of the following species: Australian Salt-grass, Prickly Spear-grass, Trailing Hemichroa and again - Austral Seablite, Beaded Glasswort, and Creeping Brookweed.
4. Mixed salt-marsh occupies the most landward and elevated zone. It comprises a varied association of species including Streaked Arrow-grass, Australian Salt-grass, Sea Rush, Prickly Spear-grass, Southern Sea-heath, Salt Angianthus, Rounded Noon-flower, and Shiny Swamp-mat. The widespread salt-marsh species of Beaded Glasswort, Shrubby Glasswort, Austral Seablite, and Creeping Brookweed also frequently occur in this floristic community. The greater floristic diversity of this zone reflects the better-draining, structured soils, and the greater depth of soil above the saline groundwater level.
